'Keep Out of Cyprus' Britain Urges Soviet

WIRE BRIEFS

Phouma Asked to Quit

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Pro-Communist leaders in Laos have, in effect, called on Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma to step down as the head of the neutralist faction, the Communist New China news agency said today.

Reds Score Heavily

SAIGON (AP)—A Communist battalion smashed two South Vietnamese government posts in the Mekong River delta late Sunday, ambushed a relief force, and inflicted a total of 126 casualties on government troops.

Fires Under Control

ELKO, Nev. (AP)—Fire-fighters appeared today to be winning a battle with four large range fires in northeastern Nevada which scorched an estimated 170,000 acres of grassland and sagebrush.

Bombers to Congo

School Integration

GREENSBURG, La. (UPI)—Three Negro high school seniors, two boys and one girl, today became the first of their race to attend a rural Louisiana public school with whites. No incidents were reported.

ATHENS (AP)—Greece informed the North Atlantic Treaty Organization tonight it is withdrawing the "necessary" army, naval and air force units from the alliance to defend Cyprus' independence and to ward off the constant Turkish threat.

(Times News Services)
LONDON—Britain today urged the Soviet Union to keep out of the Cyprus crisis.

A spokesman for the British Foreign Office said the appeal was made in response to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's pledge to aid Greek Cypriot President Makarios in the event of an invasion of hostilities.

The foreign office spokesman said Britain expected "the Soviet government to conform to the United Nations Security Council resolution on Cyprus of Aug. 9."

This resolution called on all states to refrain from any action that might worsen the situation and contribute to the broadening of hostilities.

WON'T QUIT BASES
The spokesman took exception to Khrushchev's charges that both Britain and the United States had a hand in the Cyprus flare-up, and made it clear that Britain has no intention of abandoning its military bases on the island.

Buoyed by the pledge of Soviet support, Greek Cypriots were urging President Makarios today to go to Moscow and negotiate an arms deal with the Russians.

Greek Cypriots of every political shade jubilantly greeted the Soviet Union's offer to help if Cyprus is invaded, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev's warning to Turkey that an attack on Cyprus might "boom-erang."

The right-wing weekly Ethniki hailed the weekend development as "a great turning point" for the Greek-Cypriot cause. It even suggested that Makarios, a Greek Orthodox archbishop, bring Communists

BLOCKADE PROTESTED

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Turkey has protested to the United Nations about the economic blockade of Turkish Cypriots by Greek Cypriots, the foreign ministry announced today.

Foreign ministry spokesman Ismail Sayal told a press conference Turkey asked the UN to act to lift the blockade, which he said applied even to cigarettes. He said the Turkish-Cypriots had enough food only for a week or 10 days and he forecast "a great tragedy" after a week due to hunger.

into his cabinet to show his gratitude. Other editorials called upon Makarios to fly immediately to Moscow.

There has been no official response to the Soviets. One report said Foreign Minister Syropoulos would leave for Moscow Friday to begin talks on military aid.

The United Nations peace effort suffered an unexpected setback when Finnish mediator Sakari S. Tuomioja suffered a stroke Sunday a few hours before his departure for another round of talks in Athens, Ankara and Nicosia.

The 52-year-old diplomat's condition deteriorated during the night, and doctors performed emergency surgery for a blood clot on the brain early today.

HUSKY THIEVES LIFT TWO TONS

WARREN, Ohio (UPI)—Police said today burglars took about two tons of coins valued at $100,000, or possibly more, from a collection during the weekend.

Police Sgt. Frank Lascombe said the burglars took 16,000 silver dollars and some valuable rare coins.

The burglary was discovered Sunday by Harold Berk, owner of the Berk Exterminating Co., who has operated the business as a sideline for 19 years.

$20 Million Manitoba Tax Boost

Gasoline, Liquor Tobacco Jump

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin today rejected a general retail sales tax for Manitoba but announced a series of new taxes and tax changes worth an estimated $20,000,000 in a full year, coupled with a system of partial rebates to property owners on school tax bills.

A new tax will be imposed on land transfers; surtaxes on fuels, electricity and telephone services; and there will be increases in existing taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel, liquor, tobacco, mining royalties and licences.

They will be put into effect "as soon as may prove possible," Mr. Roblin told the opening sitting of a special summer legislature session, except for some licence fee changes which will take effect next year.

Mr. Roblin, also provincial treasurer, said the levies will pay for additional aid to municipalities starting next year. The school tax rebate will be half the tax bill with a maximum rebate of $50.

DOUBLE TOBACCO TAX

Some of the tax changes:
Gasoline up three cents to 17 cents;
Diesel fuel up three cents to 20 cents;

Tobacco doubled to two-fifths of a cent per cigarette, increasing the retail price for a package of 25 to 55 cents from 50, with comparable increases in cigars and pipe tobacco;

Two-year driver's licences to $5 from $4, with increases in registration fees for most types of motor vehicles;

Liquor prices increased by 25 to 30 cents;
One per cent tax on registration of land transfers, applied on the value of the land.

Car Plunge Kills Miner Up-Island

An up-island miner was killed and another injured Saturday when a sports car plunged 30 feet from a bridge into a creek.

Dead is 17-year-old Robert Morton Humble, of Nelson, B.C., driver of the car.

His passenger, Albert Fichten, of Riondel, B.C., is being treated at St. George's Hospital, Alert Bay.

The two were heading back to Canadian Consolidated Mining and Smelting works, Beggs Lake (about 20 miles west of Port McNeill) when the accident occurred. Port McNeill is on the northeast tip of V.I.

Both were employed there as miners. RCMP say Humble apparently lost control of his car as he crossed Bear Creek Bridge.

The car plunged over a low railing to the bed of the creek. They were rushed to hospital but Humble was dead on arrival.

PENSION FUND FRAUD

Hoffa Jailed 5 More Years

CHICAGO (AP)—Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa was sentenced today to five years in prison to be served after an eight-year term given him in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The Chicago sentence, four concurrent five-year terms, and a $10,000 fine was assessed for fraud in obtaining large loans from the union's multi-million-dollar pension fund.

Maurice Walsh, Hoffa's chief counsel, said his understanding was that the Chicago sentence would be served in addition to the Chattanooga sentence.

The lawyer said he contemplated an appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Pending the outcome of that procedure Hoffa will be free on $10,000 bail.

Hoffa told a reporter he expected to serve the Chattanooga sentence first, then the Chicago sentence "if I have any to serve at all."

Hoffa is appealing the eight-year Chattanooga sentence.

Hoffa sat glumly, his jaws clenched tightly while his six co-defendants appeared, one after the other, before the bench.

The sentences for the co-defendants were as follows:

Benjamin Dranow, a former Minneapolis businessman now serving a term in federal prison for tax evasion and fraud, five years.

Samuel Hyman, a Miami Beach real estate operator, one year and one day and a $5,000 fine.

Calvin Kovens, a Miami

Malaya Invaded By Small Force

KUALA LUMPUR (AP)—A small force of Indonesians has landed on the swampy west coast of Malaya, the Malaysian government announced today. It called the landings a small scale invasion and said it would inform the United Nations Security Council.

Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak said a force of 30 to 40 Indonesians and a few Malaysians landed Sunday night in southern Johore state and that 13 were captured after a clash with police and troops. One Malaysian trooper was wounded.

Razak said the Indonesian party came about 30 miles across Malacca Strait in outboard motor boats.

Calling the landing an act of aggression, Razak said that while the UN Security Council would be informed, the government did not plan to make any immediate request for UN action.

SUKARNO TO PUSH ON

JAKARTA (Reuters)—President Sukarno vowed today, the 19th anniversary of Indonesia's independence, that his country would continue to "crush Malaysia."

Tens of thousands of Indonesians cheered "as he urged them to keep 'pounding away' at the federation and warned "we are being openly encircled by the imperialists."

RUSSIAN CLAIM:

'Spy in the Sea Defuses Polaris'

MOSCOW (UPI)—Russia claimed today it has a "spy in the sea" listening device that can "render harmless" America's Polaris fleet by locating the missile-shooting submarines wherever they are.

The local government newspaper Evening Moscow said the small radio-hydro-acoustic buoys "can pinpoint the Polaris fleets in the Arctic Ocean so that high-flying Soviet jets can dive and "attack the sub with a massed salvo of depth bombs."

America's Polaris nuclear submarines are equipped

Fails to Appear For Hearing

MONTREAL (CP)—Hal C. Banks and three other men charged with conspiring to incite seamen to abandon ship did not appear for a hearing in the case today and bench warrants were issued for their arrest.

Ten others involved in the same charge did turn up and their preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 14. Banks, deposed president of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.), has been sought for a month by a court bailiff armed with a civil arrest warrant from another case.

The bailiff was on hand with the warrant at the courthouse entrance today, together with a scattered crowd of onlookers.

The warrant would have him serve 30 days in jail on a contempt charge.

FREE ON BAIL

Banks, 56, was free on $1,000 bail in the conspiracy case which resulted from a march on Ottawa staged by the SIU of Canada last year to protest the imposition of a federal trusteeship on the five marine unions operating in the Great Lakes.

Absent besides Banks when Judge Emile Trottier called the roll of those charged in the case were Rene Turcotte and Henning Jacobson of Montreal and Thomas Piercy of Toronto.

Joseph Cohen, Banks' lawyer, told reporters outside the courtroom he has "no idea" of the whereabouts of the former union chief.

A court official said today "no commitment has been made" about possible extradition attempt if the deposed unionist is in fact in the U.S.

"That is a very involved procedure and we have nothing to do about initiating it," the official said.

The men who came forward when their names were called in the half-empty courtroom included Leonard McLaughlin of Montreal, executive vice-president of the SIU of Canada.

The contempt charge on which the arrest warrant was issued was brought after SIU members continued to picket a ship at Trois-Rivieres, Que., in 1962 despite an injunction against the demonstration.

LOST APPEAL

Banks, now entangled in a variety of court actions, appealed the conviction in the civil case all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada but failed in his attempt to reverse it. The action was initiated by the Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto, owner of the ship.

Banks is free on other bail of $25,000 pending his appeal of a five-year prison sentence imposed after he was convicted of conspiracy to assault a rival officer in the SIU of Canada, Capt. Henry Walsh.

He also awaits trial on a charge of conspiracy to assault Richard Greaves with intent to cause bodily harm.

Greaves, an official of the National Association of Marine Engineers (CLC), was assaulted in his Vancouver office in January, 1960.

BARBED BARRICADE TO PROTECT BEATLES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Baricades of barbed wire will greet Beatles fans who try to storm the Hotel Georgia Saturday for a glimpse of their mop-haired idols.

Peter Hudson of the hotel said today the barricades will supplement a force of policemen guarding every entrance.

The singers and their party, numbering about 40, will occupy the entire 12th floor of the 350-room hotel.

Mr. Hudson said no one under the age of 21 will be admitted to the hotel unless accompanied by his parents. About 200 requests from teenagers for rooms in the hotel during the weekend have been turned down.

The Beatles will perform at the opening of the two-week-long Pacific National Exhibition Saturday night.

BANKS ... where is he?

WANT ACTION

Doctors Plan To Consult On Medicare

By AB KENT

Thirteen doctors have called for a special meeting of Victoria Medical Society Tuesday to discuss "lack of dynamic action" on medicare.

The request comes shortly after a group of Victoria doctors broke tradition to discuss their views on medical care in a two-part Times series.

They felt that in view of projected medicare plans in B.C. and the rest of Canada, it is time the doctors spoke out to state their position clearly to the public.

Tuesday's meeting was called by the society executive at the request of 13 doctors. They asked for it "in order to discuss the lack of dynamic action by the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association on this vital issue of medicare."

Victoria Medical Society president Dr. Lumir L. Ptak confirmed that a meeting would be held, but preferred not to discuss it beforehand.

"It will be primarily a discussion meeting to decide whether medical men should be doing more than they are," he said.

The local society has a reputation for being an active group within the B.C. Medical Association, often influencing its policy-making decisions.

Cubans in Custody

MONTREAL (CP)—Three Cubans are in Canadian citizenship and immigration department custody here after leaving the Cuban ship Camaguey, immigration officials said today.

Three Universities Ask $28 Million in One Drive

A $28,000,000 public subscription campaign—largest ever undertaken for university construction in Canada—officially opened today.

The Three Universities Capital Fund co-chairmen outlined 28 construction projects needed in the next five years at the University of Victoria, University of B.C. and Simon Fraser University.

All told, the program will cost $68,700,000 with the provincial government guaranteeing $40,000,000 of the amount.

It will double present campus accommodation for 16,885 to provide facilities for a minimum of 33,500 university students by 1970.

Announcement of the campaign opening was made in Vancouver this morning by co-chairmen Allan M. McGavin, president of McGavin Toastmaster Ltd., and Cyrus H. McLean, chairman of B.C. Telephone Company.

CAREFUL PLANNING
"These essential university projects are carefully planned to provide wide diversity in university teaching opportunities without wasteful over-lap."

ROUND-A-BOUT

By DOUGLAS HELLSIDE

It seems the U.S. Coast Guard doesn't know Canada's navy exists.

And somebody will be in for a surprise when the cutter Ponchartrain docks in Long Beach, Calif. (See story Page 17).

American wire services, Associated Press and United Press International, have consistently reported the coast guard as saying it took aboard 12 men rescued from an ocean-going tug which sank Saturday morning in the mid-Pacific.

Associated Press Sunday night reported the survivors aboard the Ponchartrain en route to Long Beach.

Actually they are divided among ships of the Esquimalt-based Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron now steaming to San Francisco.

True, the Ponchartrain arrived on the scene first, beating out HMCS Grilse, the navy's west coast submarine, by only a few minutes.

But all medical attention was given to the survivors—including one seaman with second-degree burns—by the Royal Canadian Navy.

Zoologist Dave Hancock of 4888 Wesley Drive, whose study of bald eagles was featured in The Times Wednesday, is now minus one pet seal.

As part of his zoological studies Dave had raised the orphan seal pup as a house pet. Sammy was friendly, affectionate, playful (he and the Hancock's dog would chase each other around the chertfield) and highly intelligent.

Wednesday the Hancock's and Sammy set off in a truck-camper to marine centres in California. But after pausing for a rest near the Santiam River north of Albany Friday night, the Hancock's discovered that Sammy was missing.

He had apparently unlatched a door and made for the river.

Having left instructions behind on how to feed Sammy and where to house him if found, the Hancock's are sadly continuing their trip.

Friend of mine came up with an interesting children's game which playground supervisors and camp leaders may find valuable.

The name of the game is Last and its rules are simple. The judge (an overworked supervisor or leader) says "go" and all the children run away for at least 400 yards and hide. Last child back wins.

Black Ball Ferry officials have been wondering about the rush on ferry schedules. Was it the better weather? Maybe just a freak occurrence?

Neither.

They learned Saturday a boy, about 9 or 10, has been taking Victoria-Port Angeles schedules off the counter (they are free) and hawking them on the street at 10¢ a copy.

"Very enterprising," commented an official.

Topless bathing suits made men's heads spin this summer and women's tongues wag. Now it is time for the women to do a little spinning.

A downtown men's wear store is advertising men's swim suits "HALF-OFF."

The next move is up to the women.

Hollywood producer Arthur Freed has left Victoria after what he termed a pleasant four-day holiday in "your lovely city."

He travelled on the Tally-Ho, visited the Royal London Wax Museum, drove out to Butchart Gardens and "lazed" around the Empress.

Famed for such films as Annie Get Your Gun, Gigi and An American in Paris, he will soon begin work on a life story of Irving Berlin to be called Say It With Music.

It will feature old and new songs by the famous composer—Always, Say It With Music, Marcheta, Blue Skies and others.

Julie Andrews of My Fair Lady fame has been signed for the feminine lead. A male lead will be chosen to play Irving Berlin, but Mr. Berlin himself with advise on the story and the music.

ping," they said in a joint statement.

University of Victoria has been allocated $3,180,000 of the total public-government capital fund, presuming the public subscription reaches its target.

This would provide a campus accommodating 4,500 students by 1970 at Gordon Head.

Specific projects planned for U of V during the five-year building period are:

Biological and life sciences building, $1,000,000; education faculty buildings, including arts, $2,900,000; social and sciences complex, $2,100,000; student residences and food services, $1,480,000; administration and student services, $700,000; and site development, $81,000,000.

UBC and Simon Fraser University have been allocated $29,760,000 each under the total program. This would enlarge the UBC campus to accommodate 22,000 students and create an SFU campus for 7,000 students by 1970.

URGENTLY OUTLINED

"The urgency of the need for university expansion and growth is demonstrated by the fact that,

Banks Handle Tax Funds Under Pact

OTTAWA (CP) — Revenue Minister E. J. Benson has announced that starting in November Canada's 300,000 employers will be able to deposit their employees' monthly income tax deductions at their local banks.

Mr. Benson said an agreement has been worked out with the Canadian Bankers' Association under which banks will accept tax deductions and remit the money through the Bank of Canada to the treasury in Ottawa.

At present employers remit monthly tax deductions to one of the department's 29 district offices across the country.

Mr. Benson described the new arrangement as a service to employers.

"We are not expecting the banks to take over our duties as collection agents," he said.

Some taxpayers, especially those in remote areas where there are no banks, would remit directly to the taxation division in Ottawa. All reminders and follow-up action against forgetful employers would continue to be taken by the department.

Beach contractor, three years and a $5,000 fine.

Abe I. Weinblatt, Miami Beach, a retired New York furrier, one hour in the custody of the U.S. marshal and a $5,000 fine.

Zachary Strate Jr., a New Orleans builder, three years and a $5,000 fine.

S. George Burris, a New York accountant, 18 months and a $5,000 fine.

After the court was recessed Hoffa and his lawyers posted a $10,000 appeal bond.

Before Judge Richard B. Austin sentenced Hoffa he asked: "Has the defendant anything to say?"

Hoffa, standing next to his lawyer, Maurice Alsh, replied: "Not at all, your honor. The record speaks for itself."

PLEAS FOR HOFFA

Walsh then asked the Judge to consider Hoffa's service to labor, to communities and the citizenry and that he was under sentence in Chattanooga, Tenn., in another case brought by the federal government. He asked that "if any sentence is meted out here" it be concurrent with the Chattanooga sentencing.

Austin replied: "This court feels that the sound of the clang of a jail-house door has a salutary effect on defendants and other citizens."

Then he asked Hoffa whether he had anything to say.

Judge Austin denied all defence motions to set aside the jury conviction and for a new trial.

Hoffa, 51, was sentenced to eight years in a federal penitentiary earlier this year in Chattanooga, for tampering with a jury in Nashville. That penalty is under appeal.

He and six co-defendants were convicted of conspiracy and fraud by a U.S. District Court jury in Chicago July 26.

The prosecution charged that Hoffa and his associates employed misrepresentation in obtaining a total of $25,000,000 in loans from the $280,000,000 Teamsters pension fund and received kickbacks totalling $1,700,000.

Hoffa denied all charges. He contended that he was only one of the 16 trustees of the union-employer central states, southeast and southwest areas pension fund. The fund, incidentally, did not lose any money on the loans.

Hoffa's lawyers were ready to carry the Chicago trial to an appeals court. But Hoffa faced more immediate troubles from his 1,700,000-member union on the question of his stewardship and the issue of payment of lawyers who have represented him in his series of cases.

Town Hails Abortionist's Homecoming

GROVE, Okla. (AP) — About 400 friends gave a homecoming party in the town square Sunday for Dr. J. Bryan Henrie when he returned home after serving 25 months of a four-year prison sentence for manslaughter.

The osteopath, who says he has performed more than 5,000 abortions, pleaded guilty to a manslaughter charge following the death of a Tulsa housewife.

Henrie, 68, formerly owned a clinic in this northeastern Oklahoma resort town of some 1,000. His licence to practise medicine has been revoked.

After his conviction in 1962, Henrie was honored at a farewell picnic attended by several hundred persons.

He was Grove's Father of the Year two years previously.

Economic Proposals

DETROIT (AP) — A wide range of economic improvements, including higher wages, larger pensions and earlier retirement, were offered the United Auto Workers today by the U.S. auto industry's big three—General Motors, Ford and Chrysler.

FIRST OUTBREAK IN CHICAGO

Police Shotguns Quell Negro Rioters

CHICAGO, Ill. (AP) — One thousand angry Negroes rioted for five hours Sunday night and early today before 200 shotguns carrying police restored order to this predominantly Negro suburb south of Chicago.

More than 50 persons, most of them white, were injured when Negroes stoned them in their autos. Twenty-five Negroes were arrested after the first racial outbreak this summer in the Chicago area.

A Negro and a white man were shot but not seriously injured. At least 39 persons required hospital care and four of them were in hospital in good condition.

Seven of the injured were under 10 years old, including a seven-week-old infant.

At the height of the rioting, police blockaded the six block area where about 20 autos were stoned. Tear gas bombs were used to break up the mobs.

Police said the disturbance had been brewing since Saturday night when a Negro woman was accused of trying to steal a bottle of gin from a liquor store. Negroes said the woman was beaten by the white store owner in the quarrel.

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Racial violence flared in the southern United States during the weekend, leaving one dead, several persons injured and scores of burning crosses dotted across the countryside.

A rash of incidents were reported in Jackson, Miss., Saturday night, while other major flare-ups occurred at Green-

LIBYA WINS NEW TALKS

TRIPOLI (AP)—The United States has agreed to a Libyan demand for a new round of talks aimed at liquidating U.S. military bases, the newspaper Al Raid says.

Officials of the two governments will resume talks shortly on the timing of evacuating American forces, it adds.

The Libyan press has been strongly critical of the U.S. lately, following reports that, unlike Britain, the U.S. government rejected Libya's demand that it pull out.

Hydro Rail Profit $1 Million

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. Hydro and Power Authority Railway says it made a profit of approximately $1,000,000 in the fiscal year which ended March 31.

The railway, a part of the B.C. Electric Co. included in the government takeover of the utility, reported it grossed $5,615,592 during the year, a gain of 5.5 per cent over the previous year.

The railway has three short lines totalling 104 miles, and covers much of the Lower Mainland area.

B.C. Hydro, the parent company, said that because of interlocking activities and the sharing of administrative costs, it was impossible to determine the exact profit, but officials did say it was somewhere "at or over" the $1,000,000 mark.

In the last fiscal year the railway handled 1,663,000 tons of freight, 96,000 tons more than the 1962-63 total. In the year it moved 535,000 railway cars.

The company said it sees no purpose in trying to separate the railway activities from other operations.

Congo Asks U.S. For Scout Planes

(Times News Services)
LEOPOLDVILLE (CP)—Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe has called on the United States to send his government long range scout planes so it can keep closer watch on rebel movements in the eastern Congo.

A U.S. embassy official said Tshombe's appeal, made during a talk with G. Mennen Williams, U.S. assistant secretary of state for African affairs, has been sent on to Washington. An official at the U.S. embassy here indicated there was no reason why the United States would reject the request which would come under the U.S. military technical assistance program.

The planes would be flown by U.S. pilots but they would be at the disposal of the Congolese government for deployment against rebel forces led by leftist Gaston Soumaliot.

Efforts by Tshombe's new government to quell the Communist-backed revolt has been hampered by lack of knowledge of rebel military activity.

Hurt Climber Rescued By Copter From Comox

SQUAMISH (CP)—Eight climbers and an RCAF helicopter combined in an almost impossible task Sunday to lift an injured man off a sloping glacier high in the coastal mountains.

Mountain climber Paul Nielsen, 34, of Vancouver, was flown out of the rugged mountains 20 miles north of here after being injured Saturday when he fell down a 400 foot sloping face on Mount Sierratus.

Mr. Nielsen, who was leading a party of four climbers, fell seconds after removing his safety equipment. He was later taken from hospital here to Vancouver General Hospital where he is in fairly good condition with a fractured skull, cuts and bruises.

The party consisting of Paul Wisniewski, Karl Winer and Ursula Kutschera, all of Vancouver, had climbed the west ridge of the mountain and by noon were within 300 feet of the summit.

They removed ropes which held them together in pairs when they saw easy going to the top.

Nielsen began to ease himself around a jutting rock when he slipped backwards into a gully and landed unconscious on a snow pack.

During much of the fall he was out of sight of his partners.

Mr. Winter went to summon rescuers and the other two climbed down to help Mr. Nielsen. A second climbing party on the mountain below them heard their shouts and climbed up to help, while one of their members, Vince Bauer also went down to get help.

Mr. Bauer climbed down to Lake Lovely Water at the 4,000 foot level where he met a third party led by J. J. Fairley, who had just completed a climb.

Mr. Fairley then went for help and Bauer assembled emergency equipment to take to the accident scene.

RCMP here summoned an RCAF helicopter from Comox but it arrived after dark, too late to make a rescue attempt.

'At dawn Sunday Mr. Fairley guided the helicopter to the accident scene and the pilot chose a landing spot on a glacier at the 6,100 foot level.

Rescuers roped Mr. Nielsen down on a cardboard emergency stretcher and took him to the spot on the glacier.

After a fourth trip over the area the helicopter pilot balanced the twin-rotor craft on one wheel of the sloping glacier while Mr. Nielsen and a doctor, dropped by the helicopter on a prior pass over the area, got aboard.

Mr. Nielsen, a member of the Canadian Alpine Club, has been climbing about seven years. Among his victories is 24,000 foot Mount McKinley in Alaska, the highest peak in North America.

Other members of the party hiked out Sunday night.

Horses Stampede

Two excited horses stampeded through the traffic-choked downtown area Saturday afternoon after they broke loose from a Tally-Ho wagon on the Causeway.

The horses were startled by a jay-walker just as they had finished a trip taking tourists around scenic spots. They reared in their harness and dragged the empty wagon against a lamp standard.

The front pair broke loose and galloped off down Belleville St. to Douglas St. where one was caught by Norman Rowatt, 101½ Douglas, an 81-year old retired homesteader from Saskatchewan.

An unidentified woman jumped into a hedge alongside the Empress Hotel when she saw the horses approaching. Two cars were also slightly damaged by a piece of wood from the harness that dangled from one of the animals.

The second horse was caught 10-blocks away by a young boy in front of the B.C. Telephone Building at 1321 Blanshard. Neither horse was injured.

Boer Veteran Arthur Lowe Dies Here

A Boer War veteran and long-time resident of Victoria, Arthur Algernon Rhodes Lowe died Saturday in a private hospital. He was 87.

Mr. Lowe, 3958 Quadra, was born in Bradford, Yorkshire, and pioneered at Moose Jaw prior to enlisting in the Lord Strathcona's Horse for the Boer War campaign.

In 1901, when he was a member of the Canadian Rifle League he won second place in Canada for first-class marksmanship.

While overseas Mr. Lowe was chosen to march in Queen Victoria's funeral procession.

For 75 years he was a member of the Moose Jaw Lodge, No. 3, GRS, AF and AM, and a Royal Arch mason.

He arrived in Victoria in 1914 and was the first to hold the position of postmaster at Lake Hill.

He is survived by a daughter, Dorothy Mary; a son, Charles Arthur Bennett; a grandson, Michael Bennett and a niece, Mrs. W. (Maise) Darlington, all of Saanich.

Funeral service will be held Tuesday at 1 p.m. at Sand's Memorial Chapel of Chimes.

Johnson Raps Goldwater For 'Disservice to Peace'

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson accused Senator Barry Goldwater Saturday of making "loose charges on nuclear weapons without any shadow of justification."

The Republican presidential candidate, said Johnson in a statement to a press conference, is thereby doing "a disservice to our national security, a disservice to peace, and for that matter a disservice to the entire free world."

"So it seems to me," the president said, that even at the price of some reflection, the Republican candidate ought to keep his lenses in his glasses, at least on the subject of nuclear warheads.

Training his wrath on Goldwater's running mate, William E. Miller, the President accused the New Yorker of "equally false and reckless" interpretations of orders given to U.S. military commanders for the retaliatory strike last week against North Vietnamese patrol boats and bases.

Johnson's attack drew no direct response from the Arizona immediately.

"The senator has no intention of replying in kind," said a press aide in a statement. "He prefers to stick to the issues."

But, the statement went on: "Now perhaps the president will attempt to explain whether his advance warning given to the Communists enabled them to alert the anti-aircraft defence which shot down two U.S. planes, resulting in the death of one pilot and the capture of another."

That was a reference to Johnson's speech Aug. 4, in which he announced the attack, while U.S. planes were in the air en route to the North Viet Nam bases.

DEBATE BREAKS

The debate over Johnson's orders broke last Wednesday at Hershey, Pa., where Goldwater told a press conference after a Republican unity session that they seemed to authorize commanders in Southeast Asia to use nuclear weapons.

When a reporter asked Goldwater to amplify, he said: "I would suggest you read his admonition to the commander of the 7th Fleet in which he said to use any weapons."

Goldwater said Friday he was not accusing Johnson of giving such authorization. But he said, the president did use imprecise language and the public could have interpreted the orders that way.

Still the Basic Problem

FINANCE MINISTER GORDON'S report last Friday made official what has long been evident. Canada's budgetary deficit for the year ending last March 31 was $619 millions. While Mr. Gordon earlier had forecast that the shortfall would be $685 millions, and the 1962-63 deficit of the Conservative government amounted to more than $691 millions, the latest deficit is still far too large to engender much feeling of improvement.

Revenues for the fiscal year were up by some $375 millions over the previous year—an indication of the increasing productivity of the country, and also partially representative of the annual inflationary gain. But ominously, expenditures for the year ending last March 31 were $300 millions more than for the previous year. Mr. Gordon had failed to make a dent in the huge costs of running Canada although this was the chief part of his task.

It is true that governmental moves since last spring are designed to reduce the nation's costs, particularly in the case of defence. But spectacular measures will be necessary if the budget as a whole is to show improvement, and these measures are not yet in view.

We cannot lose sight of the fact that Canada has had seven consecutive annual deficits and is headed for another one this year. The cumulative effect of these deficits is to be seen in the total net debt—more than $15 billions last March and more than $1 billion over the previous year. This means that every Canadian is born these days with an $800 debt hanging over him—his share of the national total.

As with any family which spends more each year than it earns, Canada must make up the discrepancy. We borrow, usually from abroad in the form of foreign investments. Or worse still, we depreciate the currency, which exacts an unseen tax from everyone who holds Canadian money, or who has a right to pensions or other forms of deferred income.

There has been much to distract the attention of the Canadian public in recent months: the flag debate, the Quebec separatist movement, national pensions and medicare and our position in international affairs. But the basic problem of the country still remains our financial situation. That we have not yet solved and it will be with us until Parliament and the country face the facts of our economic life. So far, neither seems prepared to do so, but that cannot indefinitely remain a matter of choice.

A Cuban Olive Branch

ACCORDING TO MR. JAMES Nelson Goodsell, Latin American correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor, Cuba is tentatively waving the olive branch of peace toward the United States.

This, Mr. Goodsell writes, is partly the outgrowth of the economic squeeze inflicted on Mr. Castro's country, and partly the result of the extended isolation threatened by the Organization of American States' action which brands Cuba an aggressor.

Beyond this, in the opinion of the correspondent, is a very deep concern by Castro and his top government men over the future of the Cuban revolution. As Mr. Goodsell reports the situation, Castro now finds himself at the crossroads in the course his country should follow. He and his fellow Cubans are busy playing down the Soviet influence on his country, are dissatisfied with the growing dependence of Cuba on Russia and the Communist bloc and want a more comfortable relationship with the western hemisphere.

But if these sentiments, as presented to the Monitor correspondent, are genuine, they are also matched by a realization that merely waving the olive branch is not in itself sufficient to invite easy and quick acceptance by the United States.

Cuba obviously recognizes the disability of her insularity in the affairs of the western hemisphere. She has friends in Mexico, Bolivia, Chile and Uruguay. But these do not approach the strength of the United States—which once provided the basis of her economic health—combined with other Latin American countries to which Mr. Castro attempted to export revolution.

Moreover, as other countries have found to their sorrow, Cuba has discovered that widespread nationalization of industries is infinitely more complex than it appeared before the take-overs were effected.

On the surface the Cuban exploration of new avenues of peaceful approach to the United States appears to be an admission that Mr. Castro's gambles, using Soviet chips, have not paid off. The operation of revolution cannot be a success if the patient dies.

But if leading Cubans, with Castro's blessings, are seeking an effective means of achieving some reconciliation with Washington, they realize that the gesture can scarcely be expected to produce immediate results. Americans do not forget the Soviet missile emplacements. They are not likely to rush into an embrace with the man who pointed a gun at their heads.

Late But Not Too Late

THE MOVE TO RESTORE AND preserve Craigflower manor as a historic site is an excellent one. It is to be hoped that the federal and provincial governments will come to a workable arrangement to achieve this, following recommendations from Mr. Arthur Lalng, the federal resources minister, and provincial government representatives.

It must be recognized that this is a very late date at which to begin such a project. Official preservation of the historic old farmhouse should have been initiated years ago, when the surrounding environment still lent itself to such a program. Now there will be additional expense and a limited reclamation of what was in times past a most attractive waterside scene.

But it is well that even now the plan should be undertaken. We have too long left in private hands the preservation of an important part of our historic legacy. Craigflower manor cannot be ignored except at the cost of renouncing our origins.

'Driving Like an Idiot'

MAGISTRATE D. K. McADAM has added an acid comment to the $65 fine he imposed the other day on a Duncan man for speeding and driving contrary to the city's anti-noise bylaw. The comment might well be applied to many Victoria cases.

Evidence disclosed that the driver spun his wheels at such a rate he gouged a hole in the gravel portion of the highway, while leaving long skidmarks on the blacktop as he left a cafe early in the morning.

"You don't have to drive like an idiot," the magistrate informed the culprit, and emphasized the point by the penalty.

Here, and elsewhere too, many smart alecks have adopted a style of driving that is little more than exhibitionism, causes general annoyance and can, in some instances, create serious hazards.

This type of performance may express the ego of the driver, may convince the feeble-minded that he is smart, daring, gaily devil-may-care.

A reminder to such a person that he doesn't have to drive like an idiot, backed by a substantial fine, can be a useful deflating agent.

One German Unification

MR. JESSE OWENS, WHO gave Adolf Hitler an interesting refutation of super-race theories by winning four gold medals at the Berlin Olympiad in 1936, came home recently from Berlin with a significant report for sportsmen and others.

The Germans, he says, will need watching at Tokyo. In spite of ideological differences, those of the East and the West have joined athletic forces for the Olympics, and says the former king of the sprint world, "track and field is the No. 1 sport over there."

Mr. Owens gave his opinion within days of the Berlin wall's third anniversary—an occasion when those in the West honored the memory of Eastern Berliners who died trying to escape to freedom. It was a time of tension on the wall, the reminder of a divided city and a divided country.

In the face of this continued separation, it seems remarkable that joint action could be taken on the formation of an Olympic team. Perhaps, after all, there is a special dynamic reflected in the phrase "for the glory of sport."

FROM WASHINGTON

A Republican Welding Job at Hershey

BY ANY fair political standard Senator Goldwater emerged from the unity meeting at Hershey greatly strengthened for the campaign.

Unless the Democrats realize the magnitude of the struggle that now awaits them, they may well have cause to regret the result in November. For the startling fact is that the Democrats are more divided now than are the Republicans.

Senator Goldwater confronts no division or disarray at all comparable to the confused situation in the South where the tide is running against the President.

The principal opposition to Senator Goldwater in the Republican party is localized in the state of New York, which he never hoped to carry anyway.

Ike Committed

With General Eisenhower fully committed to his support, Senator Goldwater can now expect much greater support from Republican papers across the country. The same assurances which removed Mr. Eisenhower's doubts should suffice to end the uncertainties of many Republican editors and publishers. Their support will be an important influence in the campaign.

As their political divisions lessen, even if they do not altogether disappear, the Republicans will make a powerful bid to regain their traditional business support. President Johnson will be deceiving himself if he thinks that blandishments at the White House will in the end woo many Republican executives away from their party. These men, in large numbers, will give not only their votes to Senator Goldwater but also their money and their organizing ability.

Everyone who genuinely believes in the two-party system must welcome the new signs of Republican unity. A divided and quarrelsome party, following Senator Goldwater with sullen suspicion, would have gone down to shattering defeat. Such a result would certainly have been bad for the country and it might even have been bad for President Johnson himself. For it would have misrepresented the differences that exist on many important issues.

Needs Advice

Nor is there any reason to regret the new sources of responsible advice that will now be available to Senator Goldwater. He urgently needs that kind of advice and should not hesitate to take it so he may become a harder candidate to beat as he becomes more thoughtful and accurate and responsible; but only the most partisan Democrats will resent this development.

It is an entirely constructive thing that Republicans like General Eisenhower and Governor Scrantom will be at Senator Goldwater's side. There will be no shortage of other Republicans who will have the senator's ear.

The real test will come once the campaign starts after Labor Day. The unity meeting at Hershey did no more than issue a declaration of principles. It remains to be seen how Senator Goldwater stands up to other pressures. The moderates pre-valled at Hershey because it was so clearly in Senator Goldwater's interest to have the maximum degree of unity in his party. But the right wing still has to be heard from, and if Senator Goldwater weakly yields to its demands, the meeting at Hershey will be a futile gesture rather than a victory for responsibility. But Senator Goldwater should not be condemned until he actually wobbles and capitulates.

Racial Issue

On the racial issue he deserves little commendation. It is useless for him to say that he will not try to win votes on the strength of the "white backlash." He has already done enough for everyone to know where he stands on this issue. His silence now will not wipe out his vote against the Civil Rights Bill. Without that vote he would have had very little hope of doing well in the South or in some northern cities.

But he deserves a measure of respect for his stand on the John Birch Society. He is opposed to its leaders and its principles. But he will not condemn it because, unlike the Ku Klux Klan, it is not officially listed as a subversive organization. Nor will he repudiate the support of all its members because he does not believe in guilt by association and he cannot forget that some of its members may be decent but misguided Americans.

Senator Goldwater will not relish this tribute but in taking this position he is acting on essentially liberal principles. Perhaps that is why his position will be so unpopular.

The Ombudsman Proves His Value

FROM AUKLAND

LESS than two years ago New Zealand appointed its first Ombudsman. Looking back over this period, Sir Guy Powles, a former High Commissioner in India, says he believes "the office has gone some distance towards achieving its purpose." But for the existence of this "complaints" or "grievance" man as Sir Guy has become known, many citizens would have had no redress for justifiable complaints against administrative agencies.

New Zealand, with a population of 2,500,000 is riddled with such organizations. There are in the country nearly 65,000 public servants who come within the control of the State Service Commission, and a further 35,000 in the post office, railways, education and police departments who are government employees not associated with the commission. But they are, nevertheless, public servants.

With so many bureaucrats, the need for an Ombudsman is, perhaps, more necessary in New Zealand than in nations not so controlled by government bodies. The Ombudsman is doing an excellent job in dealing with public grievances but his duties go further than that.

Renewed Confidence

His office has given the public a renewed confidence in the public services and at the same time its very existence has made government agencies more careful in the exercise of their responsibilities.

Sir Guy is an officer of Parliament—not of the government of the day. He sees his role thus: "He must tread his own path, being careful to maintain his independence of both the executive and the judiciary so as to be able to build a tradition of strong and impartial criticism of government administration on the one hand, and of helpfulness to citizens in their dealings with the administration on the other. If this is achieved justice will be better served and efficient and humane administration will be promoted."

For the year ended March last, Sir Guy received 1,100 complaints, 300 of which were investigated. While only 107 of these were found to be justified, they have nevertheless illustrated the need for such a man in a modern society, and especially where government control is widespread.

Early ideas that the Ombudsman would be swamped by petitions and petty complaints have failed to materialize. This is, perhaps, because people who feel they have grievances against some party or agency have weighed up their case more carefully than may have been the case in the past.

Co-operation

Sir Guy, in his report, mentions the co-operation received from government departments and state agencies and organizations. In more than half the justified complaints the departments rectified matters promptly. In others they had not waited for the Ombudsman to complete his study before righting any wrongs. No case has yet occurred where the Ombudsman had to report to Parliament that a recommendation from his office had not been complied with.

The Ombudsman has certain coercive powers and it is a tribute to his manner of operation and partly to the spirit in which his intervention has been received that he has not had to resort to these powers. But he has indicated that he would not like to prophesy that recourse to them would never be necessary.

Sir Guy noted seven cases where there was trouble caused by ambiguity or carelessness in official publications and correspondence. He also investigated delays in civil defence matters. An act had been in force since 1962 and little progress had been made. He wanted to know why. After consultations with the director of civil defence, he said he understood the reason for delays in implementing the act but he felt bound to press for early action.

Hydro Investigation

The Ombudsman's activities have not been confined solely to the study of complaints arising from departmental files. He is still engaged in an investigation of "considerable scope" into the development of a major hydro-power project and its effect upon scenery preservation and the economic effect it is having on tourist development and the growth of an adjoining town. A compromise solution has, in the meantime, been worked out to assist in the orderly development of the town.

Another example of his duties concerns the rights of a school principal to rule on what course a student should follow. In this case, he examined a complaint from parents of a girl who wanted to follow an academic course, where the principal ruled that her record showed no suitability for it and insisted on a commercial course. Sir Guy found the legislation made the principal's decision final and pointed out that practically all principals were capable of resolving disputes of this kind in a reasonable and commonsense way.

These two latter examples perhaps illustrate that the Ombudsman's door is open to all and that he is ready to right injustices. The scheme costs the country $9,000 annually.

DENNIS THE MENACE

Problem of Proteges

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH
from Singapore

THE Russians provide the main economic prop for a Communist regime in North Viet Nam that has vociferously taken China's part in the increasingly embittered Sino-Soviet quarrel.

In 1960, the Soviet Union agreed to help the Vietnamese build more than half of the 80 construction projects listed in Hanoi's five-year plan, and Moscow has offered additional loans and grants worth nearly $150,000,000.

At least 25 of North Viet Nam's torpedo boats and patrol craft are Russian-built. Only four are reported to have been supplied by China.

But Moscow cannot change the stark economic facts of life in the impoverished north, where natural calamity and the bungling of Communist cadres, the resentment of the regimented peasantry and what leaders in Hanoi have called "lazy, reckless and careless work," have combined to make bad worse.

Cut Off From Food

Before Viet Nam was divided in 1954, the rice-rich agricultural south shipped about 400,000 tons of grain every year to the north. Today the north is cut off from this source of supply, its puny young industries do not earn enough foreign exchange to buy much abroad, and its food production program has failed miserably.

The first rice harvest of 1964 has been good in most parts of the country. But for years the hardly perceptible increase in output has been falling behind the increase in the number of mouths to feed now estimated by Hanoi to be 17 million.

Khrushchev's co-existence policies have held little appeal for men whose eyes are focused enviously on the southern rice bowl that is also the other half of their homeland.

The United States is even more heavily committed to the championship of South Viet Nam than the Soviet Union is to the north. Washington is spending $200 million a year to shore up the wartime economy of this feeble underdeveloped agricultural state, and more still on its defences.

Unwilling Risk

The Americans want no war with the Soviet bloc, yet are bound to risk it. If they abandon Viet Nam and so betray their policy of halting Communist expansion in its present tracks, the entire structure of "free" nations in Asia looking to Washington for protection may quickly collapse.

Yet the Americans can oppose no positive ideology to the challenge of Marxism. In a sub-continent until recently ruled by colonial masters or local despots, there is no democratic tradition of organized political parties and the electorate is ignorant and gullible.

The Americans have therefore found themselves supporting dictators and generals. Their presence as "white protectors" has smacked of a second colonial era. Their assistance has been more like a mechanical aid than a therapeutic exercise, so that the sinews of freedom have withered, not developed. They do not engender democracy. They only fend off Communism.

Regenerating Work

The Hon. Eric Martin is quite right in looking to the church for leadership in handling the social problem of sexual promiscuity and V.D. These fall within the regenerating work and ministry of the Holy Spirit. Many people can testify how alcoholism, drug addiction and other pernicious habits have been completely rooted out of their lives by such ministry. The responsibility of facing these problems devolves upon the body of Christian believers, since these problems, being spiritual in origin, cannot be plucked by the methods of medical science, regardless of how helpful such science can be. INTERESTED.

Questions Books

Like most people, I used to think that the moral upbringing of children was the responsibility of parents.

I am a "stay-at-home" mother who has tried to teach my children honesty and decency, but after reading two books that came into my home from a high school library, I'm not so sure anymore. These books, written by Geoffrey Wagner and Milo Dor, contained the sort of filth that would lead a young person to promiscuity. I had these books removed from the library but can't help wondering how much more of this literature is still available in Victoria schools.

Before educationists take over the sexual training of our youth, might I suggest they check in their libraries.

CONCERNED MOTHER.

Food Poisoning in Summer

People should know that, during a hot summer, food prepared for a picnic, and particularly for a large group picnic, had better be prepared just before the outing. If prepared the night before, and then not quickly chilled in a refrigerator, dangerous germs can easily grow so rapidly that next day many of the persons who eat the food can come down with a severe gastro-intestinal upset, and perhaps even a disease which resembles typhoid fever.

Alvarez

There are any number of records of disasters after group picnics due to the fact that a woman who happened to be a carrier of para-typhoid germs (a sort of "Typhoid Mary") cooked a whole dishpanful of, let us say, spaghetti. She got the food infected with bad germs on her hands, and because the food was not quickly chilled, the germs multiplied greatly, and next day the food severely poisoned perhaps 100 people.

Picking up my newspaper, I notice that during a recent rain storm, a man playing golf took refuge under a tree, where he was promptly killed by a lightning bolt. This happened to a doctor I know. How remarkable it is that so few people seem to know that the worst possible thing a person can do during a lightning storm is to get under a solitary tree, or an unusually high tree.

Some people will even lean up against the tree and then if lightning strikes, the person is almost certain to be killed.

Obviously, to stand under a tree that is part of a thick forest would not be particularly dangerous, but it could be dangerous to stand under a tree which was so tall that it extended up, high above the top of the forest around it. Strange things can happen. I remember once seeing a bolt of lightning hit a little tree which had been used by a poor man who built a shack up against it. I ran over to see if the man was all right, and found him stunned, but unhurt in spite of the fact that the lightning struck he had been lying against the tree. Between him and the tree was a 2x12 board, and the lightning had split it down the centre. It was a miracle that the man was not killed.

I remember a man who was riding on a horse on a road across a plain. Because the man on the horse stood out from the plain, when lightning struck, it hit him, and he and the horse crumpled to the earth, dead. A wise man, if he had been caught out in that electric storm, would have gotten off his horse, gone a little distance away, and lain down on the ground. Then he probably would have been safe.

We have all heard it said that lightning never strikes the same place twice, but I remember well a woman who told me that three times during a terrible electric storm, her little house on a hill was struck. As a result, part of her roof was ripped off.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Backbone of Evergreens

A newcomer to this mild coastal climate remarks about the abundance of plants available here. Only then do we realize the difficulty such a gardener might have in making a choice for his first planting.

Hilda

It is almost as difficult to offer a choice. The individual's preferences should be considered, with just the right amount of guidance with respect to weather tendencies in the difficult local areas.

Since evergreen material is definitely a feature of our coast, it should receive serious attention when planning the backbone of the new garden.

Evergreen, as has been explained here before, is applied to the cone-bearing or coniferous trees, and also to a vast range of trees and shrubs which retain their broad leaves throughout the winter.

It is noticeable that our native flora has a balance of about one-third conifers, one-third of broad-leaved evergreens and the remaining one-third of deciduous and herbaceous material.

We could do a lot worse than use these proportions in our landscaping of home grounds.

With a backbone or framework of material to give shape and color all the year around, the new arrival's interest is assured. It does away with the feeling that there is any beginning or end to the gardening season.

The end of fall is merely the beginning of the winter garden season, bringing its own pleasures and interests.

If you, as a newcomer, are seeking a bit of advice about what to plant first, I would say begin by looking around at the shrubs and trees which appear to belong to the evergreen group of plants.

Enquire about them, list their names and the information you gain, and you'll be on the way to making an intelligent selection by September and October planting time.

Nikita Mutes His Words In Criticizing Goldwater

LONDON (AP) — Premier Khrushchev was quoted Saturday as saying in an interview "I would hardly describe Goldwater as an embellishment."

The interview took place Thursday with Lord Thomson, Canadian-born newspaper magnate, in the personal coach of the Soviet leader's special train travelling through the virgin lands of Kazakhstan. The interview appears in The Sunday Times, one of Thomson's publications.

Thomson said the Soviet leader was wary of discussing Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican candidate for president of the United States in the Nov. 3 U.S. election. The article continued:

"When Lord Thomson said that many people all over the world were concerned about Goldwater's speeches the Soviet leader remarked: 'You said it—not me. He's your ally—not mine.'

"Would you disagree with Goldwater's position?" asked Lord Thomson.

PRODDED FOR REPLY

"Mr. Khrushchev smiled and looked out of the window. After another prod, he said: 'There are some strange phenomena in the world. I would hardly describe Goldwater as an embellishment.'"

He said he did not want to interfere with American elections.

These were Khrushchev's only remarks on the presidential contest.

In answer to a question whether he would favor a summit conference early next year aimed at an agreement banning the use of nuclear weapons in war, Khrushchev said: "We would be ready. A new initiative would be welcome."

He expressed doubt, however, that such an agreement could be completely effective.

"The trouble is," he said, "the losing side will always use nuclear weapons in the last resort to avoid defeat. If a man thinks he's going to die he'll take any steps."

Khrushchev agreed that East-West relations are better than a year ago.

He was told that British Foreign Secretary Richard A. Butler returned from a recent visit to Moscow with the impression that Russia would like to withdraw from commitments in Laos and Southeast Asia. Khrushchev replied:

"That is so. The whole basis under which we assumed co-chairmanship (with Britain of the Geneva agreements of 1954 and 1962 stabilizing L'union neutralite) has crumbled away."

The premier said solution of the Cyprus problem is to "get the British troops out of the island. Anyone with any sense can see that the strings behind Turkey's attack lead back to Washington and London."

On the Gulf of Tonkin crisis between the U.S. and Communist North Viet Nam: "I would say that the U.S. action was stupid and not at all in President Johnson's favor. All people of common sense regard that the U.S. attack on North Vietnamese patrol-torpedo boat bases as an aggressive act...."

LADY BIRD ... on the trail

Womenfolk Campaign For LBJ

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's wife and daughters are carrying the LBJ banner across the land while he awaits the formality of nomination this month before hitting the campaign trail himself.

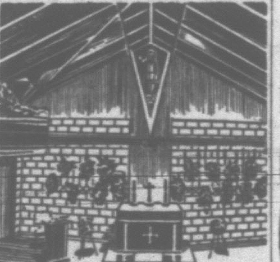

Lady Bird travelled the Rocky Mountain west during the weekend to focus attention on conservation and reclamation, and, obviously on the man in the White House.

Daughter Lynda Bird, 20, ate ribs at a barbecue Sunday at Henry Ford II's Long Island, N.Y., mansion and got set for more of the same today in another strange setting for such western-style dining — Gracie Mansion on the east side of Manhattan. It is the official home of Mayor Robert F. Wagner, New York State's most powerful Democrat.

Daughter Luci Baines, 17, was campaigning a week ago in San Francisco and was in Wisconsin for the state fair Sunday and a $10 a person LBJ barbecue Saturday in Milwaukee.

Mrs. Johnson, an active campaigner for her husband through his long political career, is on the last leg of a 4,200-mile four-day swing through territory where sentiment for Senator Barry Goldwater, Republican nominee, is strong.

The Johnson girls are attending the barbecues under the sponsorship of the Young Citizens for Johnson Committee.

Channel Record Set by Briton

DOVER, England (Reuters)—A 25-year-old Briton Sunday set a world record for the English channel swim from France to England, cutting an hour off the previous best time.

Barry Watson, a printer from Crossflats, Yorkshire, came ashore in the morning at a beach near Dover after swimming from Cap Gris-Nez in nine hours, 35 minutes.

The previous official record was 10 hours, 35 minutes, set in September, 1961, by Brian Das of Pakistan.

Army, Air Force Men Now on Same Side

By MALCOLM W. BROWNE

SAIGON (AP)—A long-smoldering feud between the U.S. Army and the U.S. Air Force in the anti-Communist war in South Viet Nam is moving toward a settlement. It may mean close co-operation for the first time between armed helicopter units of the army and air force fighter planes.

In anticipation of a truce, very high frequency (VHF) radio equipment of the type used in fighter planes is being installed in army escort helicopters.

The truce has been drawn up for the signatures of air force Maj. Gen. J. H. More and Army Brig. Gen. Delk M. Oden.

It is expected to correct the kind of delay which occurred during last Wednesday's helicopter assault on Communist Viet Cong guerrilla positions.

A helicopter pilot requested an air strike by South Vietnamese air force fighters flown by U.S. Air Force pilots against a Communist tree line. The helicopter pilot was told that air force fire mission requests could not be accepted from army helicopter men.

Thus the request had to be filtered through various control centres in Saigon. Half an hour after the request, an air strike force was dispatched.

In the proliferation of military bureaucracy in South Viet Nam air strikes are controlled by the Air Support Operations Centre, the Corps Tactical Operations Centre, the Army Aviation Element, the Air Liaison Office and other bureaus.

Under the new arrangement, close relations would be established among these groups and the shots would be called for all of them by South Vietnamese army corps commanders.

Bullfighter Killed

MADRID (CP)—Spanish bullfighter Manuel Leyto, known as "El Poli," was gored to death in a bullfight here Saturday. "El Poli" was gored several times. He was rushed to the bullfight infirmary, but he died shortly after. He was the first bullfighter killed in 20 years at Madrid's Monumental Arena.

Friendly Operator Cut Off Forever

Gulf Islanders have lost their best friend. As of noon Sunday their friend — the local telephone operator — was cut off forever. No longer will they be able to dial "O" to find out the time or to have a chat.

Never again will they hear the familiar "Number, please, Mrs. Jones," or "What can we do for you today Mrs. Smith?" Instead, they will hear the buzz of the automatic telephone operator.

HUMAN TOUCH

The switch to automation affects 960 subscribers on the Salt Spring Exchange and 395 on the Gulf Island circuit. This includes Mayne, North and South Pender, Galiano and Saturnia Islands.

The human touch was ended by the mere clipping of a wire. One minute the switchboard girl was there. The next she was a thing of the past. Directing the change-over was David Wilkie of Victoria, who used a pair of pliers to sever the last link with the past. The cutoff came at one minute after midnight.

Then, it was up to individual subscribers to snip wires in their homes on the old crank box and bring the new dial instruments into operation.

SHE WON'T GO

Cost of the new system, including building, cables and equipment, was $635,000. Preparation took a year.

Of the 15 operators under the old system, 14 have taken jobs on other exchanges. The other preferred giving up her job to leaving home.

New Salt Spring prefix is 537; for the other islands, 539. A "change-over" luncheon was held in Ganges Saturday.

A reception was held in the evening.

LEUKEMIA GIRL LOSES 2-YEAR FIGHT FOR LIFE

UCLUELET—A two-year fight for life has ended here for little Lori Tomren. She died recently of leukemia, an incurable blood disease. Funeral services for the six-year-old were held at St. Aidan's Church, Ucluelet. Services were conducted by Rev. M. Bedford.

Burial was in Ucluelet Burial Park.

Tourists, Cash Pour Into Museum

CAMPBELL RIVER — The Campbell River museum is attracting tourists as well as financial support from local organizations.

More than 2,000 visitors have signed the guest register since it opened in mid-June. Visitors came from as far away as Denmark, Hawaii, and practically every state in the U.S.

To assist the museum in maintaining a staff, groups have donated $225 to date.

Donations include: $100 from the Native Daughters, $100 from the merchants of Tyee plaza and $25 from the Soroptimist Club.

Most Back Bid to Join Esquimalt

A bid by residents in the unorganized area south of Four-Mile Hill to join Esquimalt is going well, say petitioners.

Mrs. Ethel Rankin, 1440 Craigflower, organizer of the petition, and friends, have been busy in the last two weeks calling on residents.

So far, says Mrs. Rankin, the majority favors the move.

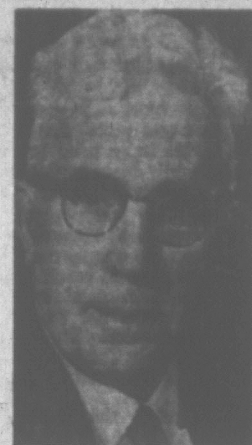

Only one or two, close to View Royal, are opposed, she said. "They are afraid of the taxes being higher if the move is made," said Mrs. Rankin. "But they are not looking ahead enough."

Mrs. Rankin believes residents would benefit from the improved facilities offered by the municipality.

Before consideration can be given to their request to join Esquimalt, 60 per cent of the affected residents must approve.

Members Desert Legion

CAMPBELL RIVER — A big drop in membership of the Royal Canadian Legion, Branch 137, is causing concern among executive members.

By the end of July some 59 members had failed to renew their memberships.

An all-out drive will be held next month, in connection with National Legion Week, to build up the active list to a greater degree.

"The future of the Legion," said committee chairman Fred Wood, "is built on membership. Without active and strong membership we cannot hope to carry on vital work in the fields of veterans' legislation, let alone continue our many community activities."

Kiwanians Plan Fishing Derby at Bedwell Harbor

It will be all anchors aweigh for Victoria Kiwanians on Tuesday as they begin their annual fishing derby.

Beginning in the afternoon the 14 boats and 80 members taking part in the derby will rendezvous at Bedwell Harbor on South Pender Island.

Supper has been arranged there Tuesday evening. The contest proper will officially begin at one minute after midnight Wednesday.

The boats, with a crew of three or four, plus captain, will do most of their fishing off East Point.

The weigh-in will take place at Narvi Bay of Saturna Island about 4 p.m.

CAR RAMS RAIL SIGNAL

SHAWNIGAN LAKE — A Victoria man narrowly escaped injury early this morning after his car smashed head on into a railway crossing signal on Shawnigan Lake Road cut-off.

Dick Ho, 2636 Blanshard, hit the signal after failing to negotiate a sharp curve. Damage to the signal was estimated at about $200.

West Coast Music Lovers Join New Culture Circuit

Vancouver Island's west coast will be included in a new culture circuit.

Introduction came last week with the forming of Long Beach Overture Concert Association.

Organized by Overture Concerts, Vancouver, members of the new association will be treated to a series of classical concerts next season in company with 63 other Western Canadian cities, towns and villages.

Membership in the series is reasonable—150 people in the area willing to pledge support for a slate of visiting violinists, pianists, singers and chamber group.

Organizer of the scheme is executive director George Zukerman, bassonist with the Vancouver Symphony.

He hit on the idea of bringing culture to the island's west coast while on a fishing trip to Tofino recently.

While there he organized the Long Beach Overture Concert Association, and then headed for Tahiti where he succeeded in setting up a similar group.

His next objective is Port Hardy, then Nimpkish, Kelsey Bay and other relatively isolated towns in northern B.C.

Said Mr. Zukerman: "All these places can enjoy good concerts and I hope to help them toward this objective during the coming season."

Corporation of the Township of Esquimalt LIST OF ELECTORS 1964 - 1965

NOTICE is hereby given that persons OTHER THAN PROPERTY OWNERS, whose names do not appear in the 1963-1964 List of Electors for Municipal Elections and who desire to have their names included in the 1964-1965 List of Electors, must deliver to the undersigned ON OR BEFORE 5 p.m. on SEPTEMBER 30th, 1964, a statutory declaration in the form prescribed, which form may be obtained from and taken before the undersigned.

The names of property owners are automatically included on the List of Electors and others who may be included by declaration are British subjects of the full age of 21 years who are either:

- Resident-Electors: being persons who are resident and have resided continuously for not less than six months within the Municipality immediately prior to the submission of the declaration, or
- Tenant-Electors: being persons and corporations which are, and have been continuously for not less than six months immediately prior to the submission of the declaration, tenants in occupation of real property within the Municipality.

For the name of a Corporation to be entered on the List of Electors either as an Owner-Elector (property owner) or a Tenant-Elector, it is necessary to have on file with the undersigned on or before SEPTEMBER 30th, 1964, a written authorization naming some person of the full age of 21 years who is a British subject to be its agent to vote on behalf of the corporation (forms for which are obtainable from the undersigned) and, in the case of a Tenant-Elector, the declaration referred to above.

WTC newest ticker symbol on the New York Stock Exchange WESTCOAST TRANSMISSION COMPANY LIMITED

The newest listing on the New York Stock Exchange is the stock of Westcoast Transmission Company Limited, the British Columbia company which delivers natural gas from reserves in north-western Canada to the markets of British Columbia and the Pacific Coast states. Today these markets are among the fastest-growing on this continent, with a steadily increasing demand for natural gas.

To meet that demand, Westcoast has undertaken an extensive expansion program to bring further large proven reserves of natural gas into the system. This is a program of major importance to the Company and the areas it serves. The development of British Columbia's petroleum industry, pioneered by Westcoast, is an important factor in the Province's booming economy.

Majorettes Invited To Compete

Vancouver Island baton-twirlers have only two weeks left in which to enter the annual PNE International Baton Championships, a one-day competition held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. Aug. 29 in the Garden Building.

Entries should be sent to George Wainborn, PNE Administration Building, Vancouver. The championships last year drew more than 800 competitors from all parts of B.C. and such distant points as California, Florida and Alaska.

In other PNE news, Robert Cross, 1120 Craigflower, has been chosen as one of the 10 international judges for the Dog and Cat shows at the PNE.

Other features of the PNE will include a ladies' nail-driving contest Aug. 28 at 1:30 p.m.; a home economist who will display the wide variety of recipes that can be prepared from poultry products; and a Parade of Fashions showing Paris originals by couturier Claude Riviere.

On Children's Day, Aug. 24, free tricycles, bicycles, toys and dollar bills will be among the gifts for the youngsters.

Mrs. D. Morford Funeral Tuesday

DUNCAN — Funeral services will be held at St. John's Anglican Church, Duncan, at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday for Mrs. Dorothy Lillian Orna Morford.

Mrs. Morford, a resident here for 16 years, died at King's Daughters' Hospital on Friday. She was 42.

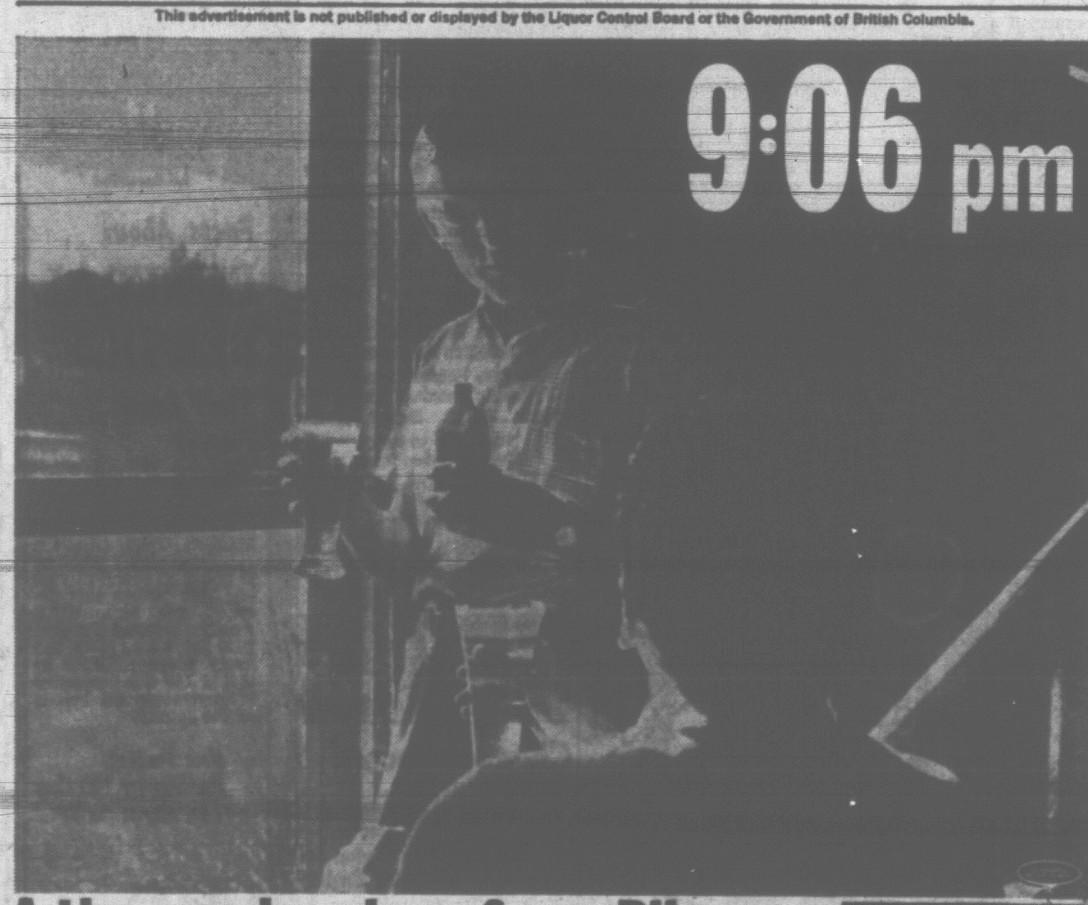

Born at Haywood, Man., she came to Duncan from Ganges, where she taught school. She had previously lived in Victoria and Manitoba.

She is survived by her husband, John; her mother, Mrs. Aileen Andrews, of Victoria, and brother James Andrew, of Victoria.

Funeral arrangements by Hirst, Duncan.

Juvenile Goalie Scores Shutout

NANAIMO—Victoria teams won two of five provincial titles at stake and provided the top individual star of the two-day meet as the B.C. minor lacrosse championships were concluded here Sunday.

Goalie Brent Atkins came up with the standout performance of the boxed weekend as his Victoria juvenile "A" club bounced from behind to grab the title from Vancouver Legion.

Legion had taken a 7-5 lead Saturday in the two-game, total-goals series but couldn't do a thing with Atkins in Sunday's final game.

Brent fashioned a lacrosse rarity—a shutout—as Victoria blanked Vancouver 10-0 to take the series by a 15-7 count.

Victoria peewees lost 8-7 in a Sunday tussle against Port Comquam but they were working with the 10-5 lead they had collected Saturday and finished with a 17-13 margin in the title series.

Scoring for Victoria peewees Sunday were Norm Baker (two goals), Robert Alexander, Randy Sylvester, Jim Lynch, Ricky Baker and Tim Gilmour. Lynch scored three goals Saturday.

Victoria juvenile "B" ran into trouble Sunday after taking two-goal lead in their opening Saturday against Sapperton. They managed only three goals Sunday while their rivals were scoring eight and the Sapperton boys finished with a 14-11 two-game triumph.

The midget championship was decided in a sudden-death tussle Sunday. In that one, New Westminster carved out a 14-11 win over Victoria.

Nanaimo bantams made it three for the Island by following up an 11-9 Saturday victory over Sapperton with a 14-10 decision Sunday.

Dave Cooper, Willson Capture Main Events

Dave Cooper and Brian Willson were wheeling the hot cars before 2,200 fans Saturday night at Western Speedway.

Cooper set a sizzling pace in sports car events, winning the trophy dash, first heat and main event.

Mike Rigby and Bill Conconi collected wins in other sports car heats.

Willson paced drivers of modified machines, nailing down first place in the main event and first heat.

Bill Steen captured the modified trophy dash.

GEORGE ROYAL SCORES SEVENTH STRAIGHT WIN

VANCOUVER (CP)—George Royal, a colt bred in British Columbia and knocking off a lot of B.C. records, Saturday made the $5,000-added Derby Trial his seventh consecutive victory at Exhibition Park.

He did it before 8,904 spectators in patented style, starting last and coming on only when the field had reached the back stretch.

George Royal won by two lengths in 1:41 2/5 over the mile and 1/16th, paying $3.60, $3.50 and $2.80. Runnerup My Problem returned $6.70 and $4.10. Lucky Spin $3.50 for placing third.

The three-year-old was ridden by Don Richardson and went to the post the heavy favorite at 4-5.

OPEN STARTS TODAY

Skillings Wins Under-14 Title

OTTAWA (CP)—After four days of eliminations to decide Canada's best junior tennis talent, the new champions were turned loose today in open competition where native crowns don't usually carry much weight.

Some of the world's best junior tennis players, including world champion Marcello Lara of Mexico, are joining 200 Canadians in competition for 13 open titles.

The star of the closed section of the tournament was Andre Martin, 16, of Montreal, who won the girls' 16 and girls' 18 titles. Her opponent in both cases was 16-year-old Nancy Green of Toronto. Andre won the senior event 6-3, 6-4 and the girls' 16 6-2, 6-2.

Officials at the tournament—in its 16th year—said it was the first time the two events had been contested by the same two players.

JUSTIFIERS RATING

Bob Puddicombe of Vancouver lived up to his top rating in the boys 18 singles. He defeated fourth seed Barry Shakespeare of Halifax 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Barry's 11-year-old brother, Bill, lost 6-3, 6-4 to John Davis of Montreal who became champion in the boys 12.

Chris Burr of London, Ont., defeated Stephane Vezina of Montreal, 6-1, 7-5 to win the boys 16.

Sue Eager of Vancouver defeated Janice Tindle of Vancouver, 6-3, 6-1, for the girls 16 title. In the boys 14 final Roger Skillings of Victoria swamped Martin Berryman of Burlington, Ont., 6-3, 6-0.

Karen Will of Clarkson, Ont., defeated Vera Komar of Galt, Ont., 6-2, 6-2 for the girls 12 championship.

SOCCER PRACTICE

Price and Smith senior soccer club will hold practices at 6:30 Tuesdays and Thursdays at Mt. View High School.

Stewart, Dinsley Top Diving Events

TORONTO (CP)—Judy Stewart of Toronto and Tom Dinsley, a University of Indiana graduate from Vancouver, took the women's and men's five- and 10-metre tower events Sunday on the final day of the Canadian diving championships and Olympic trials.

Miss Stewart's win gave her a clean sweep of the women's championships while Dinsley's victory gave him two out of three men's titles.

Both are virtually certain of a trip to Tokyo in October as part of the Canadian Olympic aquatic team but the official team will not be announced until September.

Miss Stewart, 19, who won a silver medal for Canada in the 1963 Pan-American Games, gave a strong performance in her seven dives in the tower event Sunday to score 268.5 points. Defending champion Carol Ann Morrow of Vancouver matched her on nearly every dive to register 260.15 points.

Elizabeth McGee of Toronto was third with 220.85 points.

Dinsley, 23, had a 48-point lead over John Eisel of Toronto after the seven preliminary dives Sunday but Eisel cut the margin almost in half with a strong showing in the three-dive finals.

Dinsley took the three-metre Saturday with 405.55 points while Ernie Meissner of Kitchener, Ont., who beat him Friday in the one-metre, was second with 376.55.

The one-metre competition does not count in Olympic selection.

Rookie Pro Pockets St. Paul Open Purse

ST. PAUL (AP)—Rookie professional Chuck Courtney of La Jolla, Calif., finished with a 12-under-par 272 Sunday to win the $65,000 St. Paul Open golf tournament by three shots.

It was the first tournament victory as a pro for the 23-year-old Courtney.

Tied at 75, nine under par, were Charles Siffert of Los Angeles, Jack McGowan of Largo, Fla., and Rod Funseth of Spokane.

Courtney, who shot five-under-par 66 in his last two rounds, birdied the first three holes Sunday at the start of the final round to bolt from his second place position.

He never lost the lead after that. He shot a four-under-par 32 on the first nine and a one-under-par 24 on the second nine.

The leaders: Courtney, 211, 262, 272. Siffert, 24, 273. McGowan, 24, 273. Funseth, 24, 273. Morris, 25, 276. Nichols, 25, 276. Harris, 25, 276. Devlin, 25, 276. Johnson, 25, 276. Seaton, 25, 276.

Massimale, 11, 273. 277. Galt, 11, 277. Hebert, 11, 277.

United States' top hope in the Olympic broad jump, equalled the world record with a leap of 27 feet 3 1/2 inches Saturday night in the Carretera Invitational track meet in Kingston, Jamaica.

Boston marked the mark posted by Russia's Igor Terovtsov on his third jump. Morgan Groth of Oregon State, tipped off the fastest half-mile in the world this year, 1:46.4, in a close victory over George Kerr of Jamaica in the 880-yard run.

Horacio Estives of Venezuela equalled the world record for 100 metres with a time of 10 seconds flat in the Venezuelan

Yanks Insist Upon Finding 'Good Ones'

Stottlemire Slows Oriole Drive; Upstart Mets Bomb Philadelphia

By UP INTERNATIONAL

The New York Yankee farm has harvested its annual rookie "find" in towering Melvin Stottlemire, a blond, 22-year-old righthanded pitcher from Mabton, Wash.

Two weeks ago, Stottlemire was putting the finishing touches on a 13-3 won-lost record and 1.42 earned run average at Richmond in the International League. He had never been to New York and had seen only one Big League game.

Today he is the Yankee stopper and a personification of the Yankee tradition. He has won his first two major league starts, come within one out of pitching two complete games and personally stopped the Yankees' slide from contention in the American League pennant race, after ace starter Whitey Ford was forced to retire to the bullpen with hip miseries.

Stottlemire, who beat the second-place White Sox in his debut last Wednesday, allowed the league-leading Baltimore Orioles five hits Sunday en route to a 3-1 victory which cut the Orioles' lead to two games over Chicago and 2 1/2 over New York.

In each of the Yankees' last three pennant-winning seasons, their farm system has produced at least one outstanding rookie.

Last season, Al Downing was called up from the minors in June and won 13 games; in 1962 it was A. L. R. rookie-of-the-year Tom Tresh who batted .286 with 20 homers and 93 runs batted in and in 1961 hurler Bill Stafford (14-9).

A misjudged line drive cost the Orioles Sunday's game. It was hit by pinchhitter Elston Howard and eluded rightfielder Sam Bowens for a two-run double in the seventh inning.

PAPPAS RETIRES

The Orioles had taken a 1-0 lead into the seventh but starter Milt Pappas was forced to leave the game with a stiff shoulder and the Yankees jumped on his replacement, Steve Barber. Brooks Robinson hit his fifth homer in six days for the Orioles' tally.

In other American League games, Minnesota ripped Cleveland 13-2, Washington topped Los Angeles 4-1, Chicago shaded Boston 2-1 and Detroit stopped Kansas City 11-2.

Milwaukee defeated San Francisco twice, 5-4 and 10-2; New York Mets shocked Philadelphia 12-4; Pittsburgh won the second game of a double-header from Chicago 7-4 after losing 5-4; Los Angeles Dodgers split with St. Louis, winning the opener 3-0 and dropping the nightcap 4-0, and Cincinnati walloped Houston, 8-3.

The Mets, who had lost 15 of 17 previous games to the Phillies this year, collected 17 hits and took advantage of five Philadelphia errors in whipping the National League leaders in their final meeting of the campaign.

However, San Francisco's double loss to Milwaukee dropped the Giants 4 1/2 games behind the Phillies.

Bobby Klaus, a recent acquisition from Cincinnati, cracked out four straight singles and tallied three runs for the Mets, who scored in six of eight innings against loser Art Mahaffey and three relievers. (See scores page 11.)

Kangaroos Take Tag-Team Clash

Roy Heffernan and Al Costello, the "Fabulous Kangaroos," retained professional wrestling's Canadian tag-team championship Saturday night at Memorial Arena by taking two of three falls from Jerry Christy and Bobby Christy.

In supporting bouts, Don Leo Jonathan defeated Joe Tomasso, Paul Diamond grappled to a draw with Buddy Austin, and Gorilla Marconi lost to Roy McClarty.

REPORTING TO Victoria Maple Leafs for Western Hockey League chores will be veteran forward Steve Wittuk, who helped Denver to WHL title last season. Wittuk, who played 33 games with Chicago in 1951-52 NHL season, has topped 20-goal mark in eight of his 12 campaigns in WHL.

Rocks Have Edge For Playoff Set Starting Tonight

By ERNIE FEDORUK

NEW WESTMINSTER—

If you count the extra ones, there were 1,990 minutes of play logged by Victoria Shamrocks in the 1964 Inter-City Lacrosse League schedule.

Yet they had to wait for the final 50 seconds before putting away second place and their best finish in six years.

The Shamrocks did it with a heart-tugging 12-11 triumph, tripping New Westminster in its own ballfield Saturday night.

The result of the sudden-death playoff for second brings the same two sides into Memorial Arena tonight, at 8, for the first game in a best-of-five semi-final series. Second game will be played in Westminister's Queen's Park Arena Thursday and the third back in Victoria on Friday.

ROCKS FAVORED

The semi-final series is the all-important thing now. The Shamrocks are being installed as slight favorites because of the home-floor advantage and the psychological boost derived from Saturday's victory.

They limped into the ancient New Westminster rink with a patched-up lineup. If the Victorians were going to win this one, you would never have guessed it in the early going.

Jack Byford's Royal City players, fired-up and running twice led by three goals. And on another occasion the Irish bounced into a three-goal lead only to blow it late in the third quarter.

The score was tied on seven different occasions. It was a wonderfully hectic game that was "put on ice" by a New Westminster player.

BARCLAY 'HELPS'

Any one of a dozen Shamrock players could be singled out for an outstanding performance, but it was Jack Barclay of New Westminster who ensured the victory for Victoria.

He accomplished that little service by pulling Bill Bradley's sweater when the Victorian seemed headed for a break-away run at New Westminster's goal.

Barclay was thumbed off at the 14:10 mark and the Shamrocks had little difficulty in killing off the final 50 seconds of the game.

Big Jim McNeill's fourth goal of the night proved to be the game-winner. Breaking from a faceoff after Westminister's Cliff Sepka had tied the game for a seventh time, McNeill fired a long but quick shot at 10:42 for the most important goal of the 23 scored.

WORTHY WINNERS

The Shamrocks were full value for their win. Except for stretches in the first and third quarters, the Irish appeared to have an edge in controlling play.

They were well served by every man, including Ron Jay. Recovering from a shoulder injury, Jay was dressed only to offer a psychological advantage.

He made his one and only appearance on the floor in the last minute of the third quarter when the Shamrocks had a chance to utilize their odd-man play.

Jay managed one shot, and that was good enough to give the Rocks a 9-8 lead heading into the fourth and final quarter.

New Westminster also dressed Jack Bionda for duty with its odd-man unit. He picked up two assists as Westminister scored three goals while holding the man advantage through penalties.

Shamrocks' odd-man unit accounted for six goals.

East and West, Davis Boys Best

NANAIMO—"East or West, the Davis boys are best."

It may never make the hit parade, but it could prove to be a popular refrain with a lacrosse family that has produced scoring champions for the east as well as the west.

John Davis, 20, started it by winning the Ontario Junior League scoring championship with a whopping 184 points, including 91 goals.

Terry scored three goals and set the play for two others. His effort was not good enough to keep Nanaimo from going down to a 16-12 defeat at the hands of league champion Vancouver, however.

WARICK SECOND It was the last regular-scheduled game of the Inter-City league season, and it meant nothing to team standings.

Terry finished the season with 108 points, 11 better than runner-up Sid Warick of Vancouver, who had 97.

In Saturday's game, Vancouver came on strong in the second half to score nine goals for the win.

Norm Nestman started in goal for Vancouver and stayed just long enough to make three saves. That gave him the goal-keeping title with a .7756 average. Joe Comeau of New Westminster was second with .7750.

DRIVER ESCAPED with facial cuts and bruises when his car plummeted down 60-foot drop beside railroad bridge over Douglas at Cadillac Saturday shortly before noon. Frank Curson, 609 Baker, lost control of his car on Carey Road and it veered across Douglas, took out barricade and plunged down slope to land upright on tracks. Car is total loss. (Ian McKain photo.)

60-Foot Plunge Wrecks Car Driver Only Slightly Hurt

The most spectacular week-end accident in Greater Victoria resulted in only slight injuries to the driver involved.

Frank Curson, 609 Baker Street, is in good condition today after his car plunged 60 feet off Douglas Street shortly before noon Saturday and ended up on the railroad tracks beside Cadillac.

Mr. Curson's car was a total wreck but he suffered only facial cuts and bruises.

Saanich police said Mr. Curson had a seizure just before his car went out of control as it emerged out of Carey Road on to Douglas.

His vehicle struck a car on Carey, then veered across Douglas and behind the concrete abutment of the bridge over the railroad tracks. His car smashed through a barrier, plunged down a steep slope for about 40 feet and then fell over a 15-foot sheer rock face to land on its wheels on the tracks.

Two children are still in hospital as the result of a two-car collision Saturday on Trans-Canada Highway near Thetis Lake overpass.

Mrs. Patricia Preston, 417 East Burnside, and her children, Cleopatra, 5, and Allan, 4, and Monty, 21 months, were all taken to St. Joseph's Hospital but only Cleopatra and Allan were detained. They are reported in good condition.

Cowwood RCMP said Mrs. Preston's car was in collision with one driven by a California tourist, Mrs. Helen Clemons. Mrs. Preston lost control of her vehicle and went into a ditch to avoid hitting another car.

A five-year-old child suffered only minor scrapes when she was hit by a car on Quadra Street at Leslie Drive early Saturday afternoon. Lenora St. Hillaire, 3672 Quadra, was discharged from hospital after a check-up. Saanich police identified the driver of the car as Robert Jarrott, 3840 Synod Street.

Four girls received minor injuries when the car in which they were riding hit a power pole at Medina and Simcoe Streets Saturday. City police said the car was driven by S. W. Shannon, HMCS Fraser, who was unhurt.

The passengers, all of whom were released from hospital after treatment, were Diane Welsh, 17, of 2573 Foul Bay Road; Carol MacToed, 21, and Charlotte Kuzma, 18, both of 122 Menzies Street, and Arlene Dorland, 16, of 117 Clarence Street.

An 86-year-old woman and a six-year-old boy received a shaking up in a collision at Hillside Avenue and Cook Street Saturday night. Mrs. Barbara Anderson, 3750 Cedar Hill Road, and Lewis Gadsby, 776 Market Street, were released later from hospital.

Drivers of the cars involved were R. J. Young, 3126 Alder Street, and R. G. Colebert, 3305 Linwood Avenue.

SKI RIDE TO SEATTLE A RECORD

SEATTLE (AP)—A truck driver reached Seattle's Shilshole Bay Sunday afternoon aboard water skis after making the 155-mile trip from Vancouver in seven hours, 30 minutes.

Jim Sincok, 35, of New Westminster said it is a world record for non-stop water skimming.

Two drivers alternated at the wheel of Sincok's towboat but the skier waved happily as he completed the run.

Sincok, a veteran water skier and a trick performer on the skis, was pulled by a runabout at an average speed of 22-25 miles an hour.

Seamen Win Short Strike Over Roaches

VANCOUVER (CP)—A sudden strike by 11 crew members aboard a British freighter here ended Saturday night only hours after picket lines were set up.

The men walked off the ship La Laguna protesting living conditions aboard the vessel. Longshoremen refused to cross the picket lines.

A spokesman for the seamen, steward Roy Hayes of Liverpool, said the lines were set up because "the food is terrible and the ship is crawling with cockroaches."

The lines were withdrawn when Captain John Shearer of Glasgow, agreed to hire a second cook for the crew of 34 officers and men and to have the ship fumigated.

TOBACCO INDUSTRY SURVEY

Cigarette Cancer Doubt

NEW YORK (AP)—A tobacco industry search group said Sunday that studies it has sponsored have failed to show a direct link between cigarette smoking and lung cancer.

The group, the Council for Tobacco Research—U.S.A., also said findings of its 10-year research program produced no evidence of a relationship between smoking and heart and circulatory ailments or stomach ulcers.

The group's annual report was its first study issued since the U.S. surgeon-general's report seven months ago branding cigarette smoking as a major health hazard and linking smoking to lung cancer.

Dr. Clarence Cook Little, scientific director of the council, said 15 council-sponsored studies failed to support a theory that cigarette smoke could cause cancer by contact with the lungs. This is one of several theories on possible ties between smoking and cancer.

Little said the study was continuing on other theories.

The report also said "more than a dozen studies" of heart and circulatory diseases uncovered no evidence "of any significant contribution by smoking or nicotine."

The council, supported by tobacco manufacturers, growers and warehousemen, says it has spent $7,250,000 on research since its founding in 1954.

1. STARLITE®. The dainty model with the light-up dial. Enhances any room in your house — and its compact size makes it especially suitable as a bedside phone.

2. PATIO PORTABLE. The "take-it-with-you" extension for outdoor use on the patio or sundeck. Plugs into any conveniently located jack.

3. AMPLIFYING HANDSET. With its adjustable volume control this model is a particular boon to the hard-of-hearing.

4. PUSHBUTTON PHONE. Enables you to have two or more separate lines, hold one call while you deal with another or transfer calls to extension phones in other parts of the house.

5. SPEAKERPHONE. The "hands-free" instrument—the ultimate in convenience! Its sensitive microphone picks up your voice and you listen to the other person over a compact loudspeaker, without handling the handset!

6. BELL CHIME UNIT. Replaces your ordinary phone bell with a melodious chiming signal. It can also be set to give an extra-loud ringing tone, audible at the far end of your garden.

Glamorous phones are no longer just for movie stars or millionaires. B.C. TEL can now provide you with the full luxury of modern "telephone living" at a cost you'll hardly notice.

The lady in our picture is using a table model — the basic extension phone which can save you thousands of steps a year, suitable for any room in the house. And consider, also, how much the six other low-cost installations shown above can add to your daily convenience and the beauty of your home.

All the phone models illustrated are available in a range of lovely decorator colors. And the monthly charges are much more modest than many people imagine. In most cases they work out at only a few pennies per day.

Other economical B.C. TEL services to increase the enjoyment of home living include additional lines and additional directory listings — both becoming more and more popular with big, busy families. # Dan Hums Merrily in Unsung Post

By FRANK BUTTER
Times Legislative Reporter

On Feb. 8, 1957, a 31-year-old MLA in his maiden speech advocated a federal program of long-term, low-cost loans to municipalities.

The newcomer was given the unusual honor of moving the reply to the speech from the throne for his debut in the legislature.

He was described next day in a newspaper account as "a neat-appearing studious young man."

On March 20, 1964, the same young man was sworn into the provincial cabinet as minister of municipal affairs.

It was something of a surprise to Daniel Robert John Campbell and more surprising to the Opposition and reporters who had followed his career in the legislature.

The municipal affairs portfolio had become merely a minor cabinet role in the hands of Diminutive Dan's predecessor, triple-threat man Wesley Black, who once confessed he spent only a day a week taking care of the job.

Yet five months later, a visiting mayor was prompted to declare: "There has been more news about the municipal affairs department since Mr. Campbell took over than there was in the last five years."

The Scot from Comox has certainly made it a full-time job, and he's working at it all the time.

His major goal seems to be tearing down the politically prehistoric taboo of metro government.

Metro is still a nasty word, but whatever you care to call it, that is where Mr. Campbell is leading municipalities all over the province. What is more startling, they seem, so far, to be quite willing to tag along.

At least, Mr. Campbell deserves credit for persuading the hard-core isolationists of Greater Victoria to sit down and talk about it.

Not even a royal commission succeeded in prodding Greater Vancouver under the former minister. Yet now Mr. Campbell is calling his flock together there for "joint services" talks as well.

Up and down Vancouver Island the trend is to togetherness—Alberni, Nanaimo, Ladysmith.

During his seven years on the back benches, Mr. Campbell covered some pretty rough ground.

He had the House in an uproar many times—when he accused the Opposition of being "Godless"; when his harsh heckling reduced former MLA Camille Mather to tears; when he read letters from delinquent girls praising the Social Credit government for its concern over their welfare; when he got ticked off by the premier for suggesting sale of the PGE Railway; when he criticized Works Minister Chant and Highways Minister Gagliardi for making anti-labor statements; in the fatuous ring-o-roses about the Jingle Pot overpass.

Yet now with all the facts at his disposal as a member of the cabinet, his tongue, though still eager, seems to be cooled.

Although an Opposition member also of Scottish descent recently said "You can never trust a Campbell," he had to hand it to Dan for having the wit to donate a buck when the rival party issued a public appeal to save it from the red.

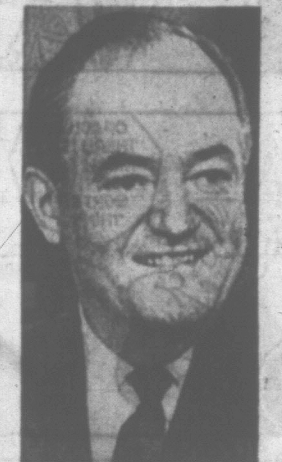

The new minister is no slacker when it comes to rounding up publicity, but it is a fact that municipal affairs have never hummed along so merrily.

And whether you agree with his policies or not, it's a pleasant change to hear what is going on.

Mr. Campbell sums up his job this way: "It's whatever you make of it."

Humphrey Tops Poll For Vice President

NEW YORK (AP)—A state-by-state survey conducted with White House encouragement shows that Senator Hubert H.

... except deep south

Humphrey of Minnesota is preferred for the Democratic vice-presidential nomination by most ranking party officials in every region except the deep South, the New York Times said today.

Southerners, the story added, were reported to favor Senator Eugene J. McCarthy, Humphrey's colleague from Minnesota, or Senator Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate majority leader.

The story also said in part: Both Mansfield and McCarthy are regarded in Washington as "distinguished liberals." But neither is identified with civil rights legislation, while Humphrey has been in the forefront of the civil rights cause since 1948.

The survey, in essence, reported Humphrey to have the backing of nearly all significant party figures in 26 states and the District of Columbia, and a clear majority in six additional states including New York.

'Gov't Not Paying Exorbitant Rents'

OTTAWA (CP)—Works Minister Deschatelets denied Friday the federal government will pay exorbitant rent for two new office buildings to be built here by private companies and leased by them to the labor and northern affairs departments.

The suggestion that the rent is out of line was made in the Commons by New Democratic Leader Douglas.

Mr. Douglas: Would the minister "consider it exorbitant to pay something over $6,000,000 over a 10-year period for all the space except the ground floor of a building that costs $4,000,000, and to pay $5,750,000 over a 10-year period for half the space of a building that costs $6,000,000?"

Mr. Deschatelets: "No, not necessarily."

The annual rentals will be $605,119 for 215,000 square feet of office and storage space for the labor department, and $575,000 for 172,000 square feet for northern affairs. This is based on a 10-year term of occupancy.

Replying to Mr. Douglas, Mr. Deschatelets said $3.25 or $3.50 a square foot is the lowest price the government can get in Ottawa rentals.

Stanley Knowles (NDP—Winnipeg North Centre) suggested if it was going to cost the government that much to rent at lowest tender, it would be cheaper for the government to build the headquarters buildings itself.

Mr. Deschatelets did not agree, saying that over 10 years the cost of the buildings and their maintenance would be approximately the rent paid in that period.

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK—Age has me in her clutches.

I'm baffled. I'm a girl watcher from away back. Sophie Tucker, Gloria Swanson, Merle Oberon, I can understand. But on my London visit, those twentyish—twenty-fivish European stars of tomorrow, Sarah Miles and Irina Demich, puzzled me.

Irina, the French model who met Darryl Zanuck at a party and soon became famous, gets a starring role soon in Epitaph For An Enemy with Cliff Robertson and a chap she calls "Red Button."

"Red Button eez my friend," Irina told me on the set of Those Magnificent Men In Their Flying Machines.

"Red Button teach me to say English. He teach me to say 'Mozeltoiv'."

Irina said she would "nevaire, nevaire" wear a topless bikini but she was nude entirely in a scene, posing for an artist.

"Yes, but when I posed nude, they geeve me the money, that's deefrmit," she said.

Irina says "Mr. Zanuck" is the greatest thing that ever happened to her. She may marry an Italian beau of 15 years standing... then she may nevaire nevaire marry heem or nobody.

Sarah Miles, the 21-year-old forthright-talking beauty who got famous in The Servant, was sitting in a car fretting. Her big white Pyreneese dog Addo was growling at me.

"This is the last picture I do," she exploded. "Waiting, waiting, waiting. Life is passing me by while I'm sitting here."

Sarah has a scene in the flying machine film: her dress gets caught in her bike and comes off. She stands in her 1910 bloomers before Stuart Whitman.

"In 1910, having your dress off was worse than having both your top and bottom off today," she said. "It was like dying!"

"I wondered how women could be flirty in 1910. You couldn't touch them, you had to do it all with your eyes."

That was sure different than Sarah's 1964. She told me she'd had a run-in with Stuart Whitman in a scene.

"But I kicked him where it hurts and that's all there was to it," she said.

THE MIDNIGHT EARL... Bill Cosby, a smash hit at the Bitter End on Blecker St., may be the first Negro to have a TV series. Sheldon Leonard Productions is signing him for a possible '65 series.

The rich folks at the Voloin's midnight champagne party for Richard Burton, for his marriage Hamlet, were less concerned about Shakespeare than about Goldwater. Many of them think BG's in... Joan Crawford now concedes that Loretta Young'll probably take over her part in a movie with Bette Davis which Joan was too sick to continue in... Complimentary remark: Lis Taylor looks topless with her top on! At least, she did at the Voloin's big party, where she took deep bows, oh, so beautifully.

Phil Harris replaced ailing Ed Sullivan in the Harrah's Lake Tahoe revue... Lynda Bird

Johnson'll be a guest at N.Y.C. Mayor Robert Wagner's home Aug. 17, for a Young Citizens for Johnson rally; Henry Ford's dir. Charlotte will be co-hostess.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: Robert Morse read that it cost $18 million to take those pictures of the moon, and commented, "Must have been the same photographer who worked on Cleopatra."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: An old maid is a lady-in-waiting-waiting.

EARL'S PEARLS: Double jeopardy, according to Peter Nero, is borrowing the boss' car to teach your wife to drive.

REMEMBERED QUOTE: "Speaking of trade relations—almost everybody would like to." —Wall Street Journal.

Billy Graham visited the New York Fair's Transportation and Travel Pavilion, and told his guide he'd filmed a series of sermons to be televised across the country. "I understand," said the guide, "Pray-TV." That's earl, brother.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Handbook Atlas of China.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Suzanne Roberts, 10, Bellevue, Wash., for her question:

How Is Silk Made?

The Chinese claim that the secret of making silk was discovered by the Empress Lo-tan in the year 2697 B.C. For 4,000 years the Chinese kept the secret to themselves. Then two Byzantine monks went spying. They solved the mystery of silk-making and returned to Europe to prove it with, of all things, a small cache of insect eggs hidden in a staff.

Most silk is spun and twisted into long threads in a textile mill. Other textile machinery weaves the threads into silken fabrics of many kinds. But most of the silk-making work is done by an army of hungry caterpillars. In fact, real silk can be created only by these grubs of the silkworm moth. The little white eggs of the silkworm moth hatch into caterpillars. Later the grubs wind themselves in silken cocoons and sleep through a pupa stage. All fabrics of real silk are woven from these silkworm cocoons.

The job of raising the insects is called sericulture. Since it is not hard work, it can be done by women, children and older people. But the silkworm caterpillar is one of the fussiest creatures in captivity, and sericulture calls for plenty of patience. The little grubs are almost always famished, but they will eat only mulberry leaves and then only slightly wilted mulberry leaves picked fresh every day.

In one ounce there are about 40,000 little silkworm eggs that soon hatch into 40,000 miniature grubs. If all goes well, each caterpillar will molt four times, shedding his old skin for a larger one to cover his growing body. After 30 days the grubs spin their silken cocoons, planning to snooze for two weeks and hatch into adult silkworm moths. In their month of banqueting, the little wrigglers eat a whole ton of mulberry leaves. Their cocoons weigh about 130 pounds, and their soft blankets can be used to yield 12 pounds of raw silk.

Thread Half a Mile Long

Each caterpillar weaves his cocoon from a single thread about half a mile long. He attaches himself to a stick and winds the thread around himself in figures of eight. After 13 days he would give off an alkaline juice to dissolve an escape hatch in one end of the cocoon. This would break the long single thread into short strands. So the harvest of cocoons is heated to destroy the living insect inside the silk. When the threads are unwound onto reels, they become the raw silk which is sent to the textile mills to be woven into silken fabrics.

China, where the secrets of silk-making were first discovered, remains one of the world's sericulture nations. But even more sericulture is carried on in the busy little country of Japan. Italy and some of the South American countries also produce raw silk. Sericulture was tried with much success in the United States—however, this country has the mills, the machinery and the industrial skills to change rough, raw silk into fine finished fabrics.

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Cheryl Lawrence, age 10, of St. Johns, Mich., for her question:

How Big Is A Baby Whale?

Though they live all their lives in the sea, the great whales are not related to the fishes. They are mammals, and all the mammal animals give birth to live babies and feed their young on mother's milk. The biggest animal that ever lived upon the earth is the blue whale, alias the sulphur-bottom whale.

Mrs. Blue Whale is the biggest mother in the world, and Junior is the world's biggest baby. Mama may reach a length of 100 feet and tip the scales at 150 tons. Her flippers are bigger than a tall man. The newborn baby blue whale is about 25 feet long. If he stood straight up on his tail, he would be as high as four tall men standing on each other's heads. And the whopping baby weighs as much as two full-grown elephants.

Wajax Equipment Expands Operations

Claims Support

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters)—Malaysia's prime minister, Tunku Abdul Rahman, said Friday his country has the firm backing of Canada, the United States and Britain in its dispute with Indonesia. The Canadians, he told a press conference, "have their minds made up to come solidly to our support."

Divinity Student Admits Killing Family

CHULA VISTA, Calif. (AP)—An 18-year-old divinity student was booked on suspicion of murder Sunday after police said he told them of beating his mother, father, brother and sister to death.

Raymond Goedecke, student at Lutheran Concordia College in Oakland, Calif., first told officers he discovered the bodies when he returned home Saturday morning from a Lutheran mountain camp.

Police Lieut. Roy Borchers said the youth later admitted using a steel rod to kill his father, Henry, 42, landscape architect and church elder; his mother, Joan, 39; his sister, Ellen, 15, and brother, Mark, 3.

Borchers said young Goedecke told him he hated his father because he was demanding better work in school. The officer said the youth stabbed his father 20 times after beating him with the rod.

Borchers, a friend of the family and member of the Pilgrim Lutheran Church where the senior Goedecke was an elder, said the youth drove back to the camp and had breakfast early Saturday morning.

Then young Goedecke re-

Criticism of the way suburban elections were held Saturday was tossed aside today by Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell.

He is satisfied the five men were elected fairly.

They will meet Thursday with Greater Victoria municipal representatives to discuss with Mr. Campbell formation of a joint services board.

Six candidates protested the "confusion" in elections at Metchosis, Colwood and Langford, and although they considered asking Mr. Campbell to order a new election, this was not done. Mr. Campbell said "absolutely not" when asked about another election.

Elected were William Reader, Colwood; R. H. Willing, Langford; Kenneth Rainey, Metchosis; J. B. Cumming, North Saanich, and A. E. Beasley, View Royal. John E. Martin, Sooke, was elected by acclamation two weeks ago.

The minister said he was "disappointed in the turnout."

There were fewer than 15 per cent of eligible ballots cast in four areas, but one hit per cent. This was Metchosis, with about 300 eligible voters.

The candidates of Metchosis, Colwood and Langford met at 5:30 p.m. Saturday—before polls closed and the winners were known—to draw up a letter to Mr. Campbell.

More Publicity Than Ever Before

The candidates said they had heard of people who had voted more than once due to the confusion. Others had not voted although eligible.

"This was the first time we've had any kind of machinery for an election of this sort," Mr. Campbell said.

"It was at the suggestion of the people of these areas that these persons be elected."

The minister's other comment today was that "no other local issue has been given the amount of publicity in the newspapers that this has," refuting any claim that there was insufficient or unclear information.

'He Never Did Clear It Up'

"All the names were on all the lists posted in the various areas," he said.

"I could have gone and voted in several polls. Anyone could have and several did." He said he had no specific evidence of this, however.

Barry to Get More Votes From South

WASHINGTON (AP)—South-erners probably will cast 2,000, 000 more votes this year than in 1960 and Republican Senator Barry Goldwater will pick up most of them, Raymond V. Humphreys, a Republican campaign strategist, said today.

Humphreys said in an interview he thinks 75,000,000 to 77, 000,000 votes will be cast in the presidential election, Nov. 3.

In 1960, 68,800,000 votes were cast, 10,200,000 in the 11 states that formed the old confederacy.

For the first time, Humphreys said, the Republican see in every state "a prospect for success."

He said Goldwater has vote-pulling strength in southern states that until now have been written off to the Democrats.

For example, he said, Goldwater could carry Georgia, a traditionally Democratic state.

Humphreys conceded the Republican nominee has "problems" in New England, but said the party is by no means writing off its chances there.

Humphreys, director of political education and training for the Republican national committee, said one-third of the U.S. is not committed to either the Democrats or the Republicans.

It said there was "confusion caused by contradictory statements" that were published before the election.

They resulted in "confusion both at the polls and in the minds of the public," the letter stated, urging proper machinery and terms of reference in a future election.

The statements were made by Mr. Campbell, in a letter to returning officers, and in newspaper stories.

Run for SIU Office And See the World?

MONTREAL (CP)—Vice-President Leonard McLaughlin of the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) was accused Saturday of having another candidate in the union's upcoming election removed from close contact with the membership.

Jack Dorner, a spokesman for one of two groups contesting the fall election, said Montreal-based organizer Rene Turcotte has been ordered to make a survey in Newfoundland.

"He is the third member of this slate to be either fired from office or transferred to areas where contact with the rank-and-file membership is seriously curtailed," Mr. Dorner said.

Mr. McLaughlin, who became senior officer in the union following the dismissal of Hal Banks as president, said the dismissal of one candidate and transfer of two others was a "mere coincidence" and that "any other interpretation is a lot of balderdash."

Andre Basset, who announced Monday he would run for the post of Quebec City port agent, was subsequently dismissed from his paid job as a dock patrolman, and Gilbert Johnson, who also revealed his candidacy Monday, was sent Tuesday to Fort William from Montreal to an organizing job.

PHYSICIAN HEAL THYSELF

LONDON (AP)—What many psychiatrists need, a British psychiatrist said today, is analysis.

The diagnosis came from Dr. Joshua Bierer at a conference of the Institute of Social Psychiatry.

"How is it," he asked, "that so many people in our field are considered to be neurotic and unstable?"

"How is it," he continued, "that so many of us are intolerant and narrow minded?"

"It is no secret that many of us came into the field of psychiatry because we had our own problems."

Dr. Bierer summed up his recommended cure in two words: "Ruthless self analysis."

WALKOFF ENDS

Mediator Named In PGE Dispute

VANCOUVER (CP)—The B.C. government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway returned to normal during the weekend when about 125 trainmen ended what they called a "temporary absence from duty."

They had booked off the job from 11 a.m. Friday in protest over unfair labor practices and "inconsiderate dismissals."

They started to return to work from 11 p.m. Saturday after provincial conciliation officer Ray McDonald was appointed to mediate their grievances.

Deputy labor minister William Sands announced that Mr. McDonald would set up a procedure for mediation and, if that failed, for arbitration.

The men had complained that there was no procedure for the processing of grievances since a national railway board of adjustment made up of union and management representatives was disbanded earlier this year.

While the men were off three trains, a passenger and two freight, were operated on the line that extends from Vancouver to Fort St. John.

Fred Ruddell, secretary of the PGE local of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen (CLC), said 125 of the 180 trainmen were absent. He said the three trains were run by supervisory personnel.

But J. S. Broadbent, PGE president, said: "I don't think it is necessary to state who made up the crews. If I hire a man today, he is a crew member. It happens all the time. Officials have ridden trains before."

NEW CONTRACT

Mr. Sands said if Mr. McDonald's mediation procedure fails he must report to the Labor Relations Board which can take one of three steps: decide the issue on the basis of the report; send it back for further negotiations; send it to arbitration.

Under arbitration the union and the PGE would name representatives and agree on a chairman. If the two sides could not agree on a chairman the department of labor would appoint one.

The union and company now are negotiating a new contract to replace one that expired last Dec. 31.

PLANE WRECK FOUND IN STRAIT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Wreckage of a light aircraft missing 13 days on a flight from Alaska to Bellingham, Wash., was spotted Sunday floating off the Washington coast, the RCAF here said Sunday night.

Lee Maxwell of Portland, owner of the plane, identified a wheel, tire and part of the undercarriage found in Juan de Fuca Strait offshore from Port Angeles, Wash.

There was no sign of Delmar Alexander of Portland, pilot of the aircraft.

The U.S. Coast Guard was conducting a search of the area.

RANGOON, Burma (AP)—All universities in Burma will reopen in November under a radically changed system. They have been closed for the last year following student riots in November, 1962.

The total number of students will be cut by half.

Instead of the broad categories of arts, sciences, medicine and engineering of the past, the universities will be divided into more specific colleges: Medicine, dentistry, veterinary medicine; agriculture, education, economics, technology, pure science and art.

17 Die in Bus Crash

BOURG ST. MAURICE, road Sunday and plunged 230 feet into a ravine. The bus was carrying vacationing French youngsters from a shepherd's festival back to their camp at the summer resort of Sees near the Swiss frontier. The driver, Armand Lothier, 51, who suffered severe injuries, told police he was forced off the road by an approaching car. The bus crashed through a guard rail at the right hand side of the road and landed upside down at the bottom of the ravine. Motorists helped remove the dead and injured from the wreck.

Rescue Fleet Speeds Survivors to Port

By RON SUDLOW

Ships of the Esquimalt-based Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron today are steaming to San Francisco carrying all 12 survivors of a deep-sea tug which burned and sank in the mid-Pacific early Saturday.

They are expected to arrive there Tuesday afternoon and leave for Victoria in the evening.

Joseph Cunningham, the engineer aboard the tug Sea Wolf when her fuel caught fire, is reported in only fair condition aboard HMCS Jonquiere after suffering second-degree burns to 30 per cent of his body.

He was treated for burns to his arms, neck, shoulders, back, ankles and feet by the squadron's senior medical officer Surgeon-Lieut. J. C. Bruyere.

AGGRAVATED

His injuries were aggravated by immersion in salt water.

"We can assume the other crew members are in reasonably good shape apart from exposure as no mention has been made of any other injuries," a navy spokesman said.

Because of the urgency of their present mission, the Canadian ocean escorts elected to pass up another emergency call late Sunday.

The St. Frederick Lykes, en route to San Francisco, reported it had "an extremely sick crew member aboard."

However, the call would have taken the OEs 700 miles off their course and the Frederick Lykes was advised to rendezvous with the liner Arcadia, also in the vicinity.

The Sea Wolf, towing a barge loaded with lumber from Portland, Ore., was reported ablaze to the navy about 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

Coast Guard and U.S. Air Force C-130 Hercules planes

from Barbers Point, Hawaii, and San Francisco pin-pointed its location 950 miles northwest of Hawaii.

Life rafts were dropped to the seamen and secured to the drifting barge before the tug sank at 4:30 a.m.

Contrary to early reports, HMCS Grilse, the navy's west

HOME ON TIME FRIDAY

Units of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron will return to Victoria on time despite the role they played in Saturday's dramatic mid-Pacific rescue of 12 seamen.

The ships will enter Esquimalt Harbor at 8:30 a.m. Friday and the submarine HMCS Grilse will come alongside at 9 a.m.

enter HMC Dockyard to welcome them at 11 a.m.

The ships are completing a month long cadet training cruise which took them to California and Hawaiian waters.

Hydro Head 'Bulldozing' Says Mayor

Mayor R. B. Wilson today angrily lashed back at B.C. Hydro chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum.

He said a weekend statement by the power head "is symbolic of Dr. Shrum's bulldozing tactics."

The mayor was referring to a claim by Dr. Shrum that the municipalities' decision to obtain a full-scale survey of transit problems was not needed. He also said it was merely a delaying tactic intended to drag the bus fare controversy beyond the civic elections.

NONSENSE

"That contention is utter nonsense," scoffed Mayor Wilson. "B.C. Hydro has used indecent haste and pressure in an effort to boost the rates."

"The question of the deficit and fares is a subject that has been with us for many years but they are trying to have the whole thing pushed through the Public Utilities Commission as quickly as possible."

He said the municipalities want to know what will happen if all the B.C. Hydro pushing is successful.

Tunnel Plan At Causeway

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor R. B. Wilson today hailed a "major breakthrough" that promises to give Victoria its Causeway promenade and Inner Harbor improvements while providing a novel entrance to the planned provincial museum-archives building.

He was referring to studies aimed at using the excavated rock from the museum site to build the long-sought lower promenade along the Causeway.

Provincial Works Minister W. N. Chant said the idea seemed entirely practical and that a novel touch might be added.

A tunnel might be cut under Belleville and Douglas Streets to connect with the promenade and provide an extra entrance to the museum for visitors who also wished to take a walk around the harbor basin.

Mayor Wilson said the federal government already has indicated it will dredge the Inner Harbor if the promenade is built and he said the next step will be to initiate technical discussions between the city and federal engineering staffs.

NEXT YEAR

Mr. Chant said excavation for the museum site—covering all of the present civil service parking area at Belleville and Douglas—some property beyond it—"probably will be started this time next year."

He said considerable amount of rock will have to be removed and this could be used for building the lower promenade beneath the sidewalk level of the Causeway "provided the city and the federal governments can arrange the details."

He said that an inter-departmental committee programming construction of the museum-archives also is studying the possibility of providing a tunnel from the promenade to the below-ground level of the museum.

FEDERAL AID

"It sounds like a good idea but we have to make sure of the cost factor first," he said.

Mayor Wilson, who has made personal trips to Ottawa to seek more help from the federal government for the project, said he was delighted by the turn of events suggested by Mr. Chant.

"This is great, really great news," he said. "It's a major breakthrough."

"It looks as though what previously appeared to be a roadblock of high costs will be removed now."

"This opens the possibility of achieving a major improvement for our Inner Harbor economically and much sooner than we had thought possible."

ASSIDUOUSLY

Mr. Chant said the inter-departmental programming committee "has been working assiduously for the better part of a year" in planning the museum project.

He said besides the civil service parking area, the museum site will include Elliott Street—which will be closed—and some more property beyond it.

"The grounds will be carefully planned to complement those of the Parliament Buildings," Mr. Chant said.

SUDBURY ON WAY TO DISABLED SHIP

Sudbury II, Island Tug and Barge's deep-sea tug and veteran of many towing and rescue operations, today is steaming westward into the Pacific to take in tow a disabled Greek freighter.

The Atlantic Sun is wallowing 2,200 miles from Victoria at the junction of the 49th parallel and the International Dateline.

She lost her propeller Thursday morning but her owners took until Saturday to decide on ITB after hearing other towing prices.

The 15,000-ton freighter was bound for the Pacific Coast. The Atlantic Sun has been held in tow by a sister ship, Atlantic Grace, which is fully loaded and bound for Japan.

She was expected "to be relieved today by another sister ship Atlantic Governor."

It is estimated the 4,400-mile round-trip tow will take Capt. Harley Blagborne and Sudbury II about three weeks to complete.

The marathon tow will end at either Seattle, Portland or Vancouver, an ITB spokesman said today.

Five-Day Cure for Smoking: Eat Right, Walk Hard and Pray

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

At the Empress Hotel Sunday night I gave up cigarette smoking for the second time.

The first time was in this same hotel nearly five years ago—on Oct. 15, 1959. It happened to be my birthday and I was celebrating it by reporting a medical convention.

Most of the doctors were smoking like furnaces, but they convinced me, by logic and lantern-slide, that the cigarette is a deadly weed threatening cancer and various heart disorders.

But a few months ago I weakened. Somebody gave me a box of 50 cigs and the mischief was done.

The habit was growing until Sunday around 7:30 p.m. when I attended a meeting in the Empress which had been advertised in our paper as: "Your Opportunity to Quit Smoking in Five Days."

We watched a ghastly color film showing an operation for lung cancer and were told that the overall death rate of cigarette smokers is 58 per cent higher than that of non-smokers.

Our authority for this was Dr. L. H. Loneragan, professor of the department of pharmacology at Loma Linda University, California, who is conducting a series of free quit-smoking clinics sponsored by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

No Drugs

By the end of the evening, 45 men and women—some of them quite young—had volunteered for the five-day cure.

I compromised by giving up cigarettes on the spot, cleaning out my pipe and res lying to follow part of the cure.

"There is no charge and we use no drugs," Dr. Lo-mergan said. "Our cure is a combination of diet, exercise, practical psychology and prayer. But, please understand, we are not asking you to join our church or any church."

From his experience of clinics in other cities, he has found that after the five-day program, 60 to 80 per cent of the participants were cured.

How It Works

But between 40 and 50 per cent slipped back to smoking after a few months.

The volunteers were divided into pairs, who will phone each other regularly during the day and exchange encouragement.

Briefly this is how the cure works:

First night—go for a short walk, practise deep breathing, take a warm (not hot) shower or bath and a warm, non-stimulating drink if needed. Retire half an hour earlier than usual and before going to sleep, repeat the words: "Tonight I have chosen to stop smoking."

Next morning—rise half an hour earlier than usual. Take a warm shower or bath and drink one or two glasses of warm water. Eat fresh fruit with fruit juices for breakfast, or if more solid food is needed, one or two boiled eggs without pepper, fresh or stewed fruit and whole wheat toast. Take a five-minute walk with deep rhythmic breathing.

At work—take sugarless or medicated gum when tempted to smoke and repeat the words "I have chosen not to smoke" and "Give me strength."

Avoid Them

At lunch—avoid smoking companions, eat only fruit if you can but if necessary a bowl of mildly-seasoned soup with a sandwich, avoiding friend or spiced meat.

After lunch—take a 10-minute walk, as close to the sea as possible, and breathe deeply. Keep repeating: "It's tough but I'm breaking the smoke habit." Contact your partner and ask how he or she is progressing. Give encouragement. Drink water or fruit juice at two-hour intervals throughout the afternoon.

After work—take a brisk walk, repeating the words: "I choose not to smoke."

At home—stay away from your favorite easy chair where you have smoked so often, and avoid alcohol, which (says Dr. Loneragan) stimulates the craving for tobacco.

At dinner—eat more fruit, or if necessary, a light-seasoned soup with salad of cottage cheese or fresh garden vegetables, wheat bread or toast milk or fruit juice.

No Easy Chair

After dinner—get away from the table, engage in a hobby or good conversation. Stay away from the easy chair and take another brisk walk, with deep breathing.

At 7:30 p.m. return to Dr. Loneragan's clinic at the Empress Hotel for group therapy. This includes an exchange of experiences, with helpful suggestions; a question period; a talk by Dr. Loneragan and the showing of another film on the perils of smoking.

After the meeting—early to bed with the first night's routine repeated.

"Many actually enjoy the five-day program when they get used to it," Dr. Loneragan said. "It is preferable to start at the beginning, but we will welcome anyone who cares to join us tonight or any night before Thursday."

A 20-year-old youth was fined $75 this morning for causing a disturbance by being drunk on Harrison Street Sunday.

Wayne Orrick, 1411 Harrison, was picked up by police on the front steps of the house surrounded by empty bottles.

A police officer said there have been numerous complaints recently about activities on the stretch of Harrison Street. He said police attended there several times on Sunday as a result of complaints from nearby residents.

Non-registered Saanich residents have until Sept. 30 at 5 p.m. to get their names on the 1964 municipal voter's list.

They may file declarations or confirmations with clerk Gordon Hayward at the municipal hall, West Saanich Road at Royal Oak.

These persons would be non-property owners, or tenants. Property owners as of Sept. 30 would be carried onto the election rolls.

Declaration forms may be obtained from offices at 625 Yates, 817A Fort, 706 Fort or the municipal hall.

Former superintendent of the B.C. public library commission C. K. Morrison and Ranjit Singh Azad and Julian Reid will speak on Why I Am a World Federalist, tonight at 8, at 1350 Dallas Road.

The meeting is sponsored by the Victoria branch of the World Federalist of Canada.

MRS. HUNT ... Alert Bay-bound

Mungo Memorial Plea Made to Island Chiefs

Mrs. Helen Hunt, adopted daughter of Chief Mungo Martin, left Victoria today for Alert Bay to spearhead a campaign in that area for the Mungo Martin Memorial Fund.

"The chief was so successful in hanging on to so many Indian customs and traditions that it would be marvellous if all Indians would contribute to the fund," said Mrs. Hunt.

While visiting in Alert Bay with her 13 children, Mrs. Hunt plans to approach all the chiefs and store owners in the area to ask them to start a fund for the memorial.

The fund to raise $5,500 for a copper memorial plaque to honor the great Indian carver, is being supported by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society and a group of interested citizens.

Mrs. Hunt left with a special collection box and will return to Victoria in three weeks with the contributions from Alert Bay.

Donations are deductible from income tax and may be sent to the Mungo Martin Memorial Fund, care of the Times or the Colonist.

THAT'S ALL IT TAKES FOR CAR TEST

Ten Minutes Can Save Life

By JIM BIGSBY

Mechanic Ron Mooney slid behind the wheel of my 11-year-old car and moved it up to the first stage of the motor vehicle testing station.

Along with 20 other Victoria drivers I had come early to the Victoria Curling Rink parking lot to see if my car was as safe as I thought it was.

And like most owners of cars over three years old I discovered that there can be a lot of little things wrong which just don't show up during driving.

"Left headlight's low," said mechanic Don Chaplin.

Ron checked the rear view mirror, the driver's window, the horn and windshield wiper, then moved ahead.

"Toe-in is five pounds, so your wheel alignment's OK," he said as we bumped over one device.

Then the car was jacked up and the front end given a going over.

"King-pin a little loose, steering a little loose, but it's all right," said Ron. "If you came into a shop I owned like that I'd try to sell you a new one, but we're not going to be that strict."

He accelerated, then pulled on the emergency brake.

We slowed to a stop, Ron laughing.

"It's not bad, really, although I could flunk you on that." Then on to another machine and another sharp stop, this time with the regular brakes.

Dials swung, except for the one geared to my right rear brake.

"You'll get your pass sticker," said Ron as he filled out a detailed form checking faults, "but keep these weak points in mind and have them checked in a little while, just in case they get worse."

The whole thing took less than 10 minutes, cost nothing, and left me with a knowledge of my car's tested capabilities.

The testing station will be in Victoria for two weeks, this week at the Curling Rink from noon to 7 Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday; next week at the Safeway lot at 2635 Quadra 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

City police have been asked to trace an Englishman who emigrated to Canada 42 years ago.

He is R. C. McCarty who is known to have lived on Oak Bay Avenue in 1957. Mr. McCarty's relatives in England are trying to contact him.

He at one time owned a city cafe and is known to have operated a farm and been in the theatre business as well as the catering trade.

An impaired driver arrested after he crashed into a telephone pole at Pembroke and Fernwood early Sunday was fined $300 when he pleaded guilty in city court this morning.

Nels A. Rosenlund, 1347 Gladstone, also lost his licence. Evidence showed that after the initial collision his car went through a fence and ended up on a lawn.

Imperial Oil Ltd. plans to build a new service station next year at Humber Green on the Hillside-Douglas corner once occupied by the Monterey Restaurant.

A company spokesman in Vancouver confirmed that the weekend that the property had been purchased by the firm.

He added that an existing station across the intersection, at Government and Gorge, will be closed down when the new one was constructed.

Purchase price was not disclosed. Building design has not been decided, the spokesman said.

She's Young, Talented And Loves Candlelight

By PENNY SAVER

Miss Janet Lucas, a vivacious 25-year-old blonde who works out of Toronto, breezed into town this week. And, the main topic of her conversation was—candles! Not that she needs the soothing softness of candlelight—even the all-revealing lights of our office did nothing to accent her attractions to my male counterparts!

Fact is, she's "beating the drum" for a new service dreamed up by one of the well-known oil companies. It appears that while their scientists were ferreting out a new process for refining oil they came up with a gimmick that's going to add a new wrinkle to the hobby of making candles.

It seems that they stumbled upon a much easier way of making paraffin wax. Normally, this isn't too good a substance for candle-making but they've found that by adding stearic acid they have a dandy combination. The latter makes the wax harder and also adds long-burning properties.

So, as a side line, this company has come out with two candle-making kits, each with a complete list of instructions and hints for the beginner. Kits will probably sell at about $1.50 and $2.50.

As an example, the instructions show how to combine such everyday articles as milk cartons and ice cubes and come up with lacy-effect candles that will have your bridge club drooling!

Not that Miss Lucas confines her activities to the candle-making sphere. An excellent public relations gal, she also handles national accounts for many of the big food companies.

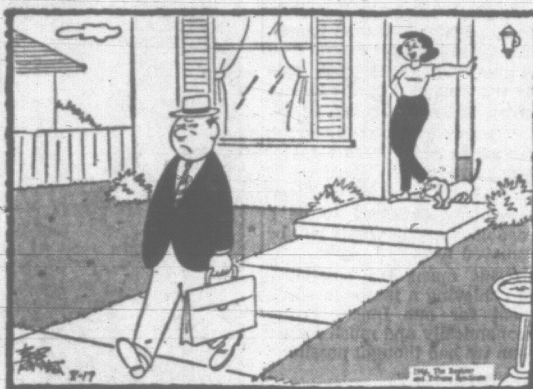

She was perfectly at home in our office. Prior to breaking into the public relations field she tried her hand at the newspaper game. Indeed, she became women's editor of the Ottawa Journal at the age of 22.

But the city lights of Toronto dazzled her—and off she went! Not that she regrets her change of occupation. Says Janet, "In my new job, I can combine the best of everything and meet all kinds of people—and this I like!"

This column is much in the nature of a sneak preview for the kits won't be on sale until September. But if you phone Penny at 382-3131 I'll give you Janet's address in Toronto. She'll be able to write you and tell you where to get the kits and instructions when they appear in Victoria next month.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Few Women Are Really Satisfied With Their Hair

Few women are satisfied with the type of hair they have. The familiar sentence, "I can't do a thing with it," is uttered by women with fine hair, coarse hair, straight hair, and curly hair.

However, it seems to me that fine hair is the most difficult to manage. It falls flat in humid weather and certainly its owner cannot pass for the windblown type. I have often been walking along the street when other women along beside me didn't have a hair out of place, while mine was flying in all directions. I hadn't controlled it with a hair spray.

This type of hair cries for a really good haircut more than any other. It doesn't hold a set as well as other types, but if the hair is well shaped it will keep some semblance of a hairdo even if it becomes somewhat limp.

The ends should be blunt-cut and it should have a permanent which adds body rather than curls. If you have this kind of hair never have a cream shampoo or you will really be sunk! The hairdo should be medium in length or even short. This makes the hair appear heavier and thicker. Hair sprays are a great help. Today you can buy hair sprays which do not make the hair sticky in hot weather. Those of us who do not have naturally curly hair look with envy at those who do have it. However, this is not always an unmitigated blessing. The very curly head can also present problems. It, too, can be unmanageable.

Curly hair is usually dry. Therefore use only cream shampoos. A cream dressing on the ends will help. When you set your hair use the jumbo size rollers and a good wave lotion. Do not have your hair thinned any more than necessary because the thin ends will curl up in little tendrils.

Extremely curly hair can be straightened by a professional. Be sure that he or she really knows this technique. It can be successful and lasts about as long as a permanent does. Since this process must be repeated it is best to try to control the curls with measures I have mentioned unless the hair is really kinky and unmanageable. There are conditioners for dry hair which will help.

If you are worried because your hair is falling out you may want my booklet "Is Your Hair Thinning?" This gives you the latest information. If so send 15 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Distinguished Visitors Coming

Next Friday afternoon, His Excellency Sir Solomon Hochoy, Governor-General of Trinidad and Tobago, and Lady Hochoy, will arrive in the city to be the guests of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes, in Government House.

That evening the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Pearkes will give a dinner at Government House for Their Excellencies Sir Solomon and Lady Hochoy and for His Excellency the Ambassador for Poland and Mrs. Wolniak, who will also be in Victoria at that time.

Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Stevens had their family with them last weekend to mark the couple's golden wedding anniversary. Parties included a family dinner at the Oak Bay Beach Hotel, Saturday evening, and a family tea on Sunday afternoon in the Stevens' home at 310 Moss Street. The couple was married Aug. 11, 1914, in a civil ceremony at the British Consulate in Berne, Switzerland, followed by a church ceremony. After a honeymoon in Neuchatel, Mr. and Mrs. Stevens came to Victoria where Mr. Stevens had established a business seven years previously.

Celebrating with the Stevens last weekend were their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Stevens and their four sons, David, Richard, Murray and Gary, all of Victoria; a daughter, Helene, also of Victoria; another son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Stevens and daughter, Lynne, all of Vancouver. Also here were their granddaughter and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon W. Thompson of Vancouver and their one-year-old son, Steven.

Down South

San Francisco continues to be a holiday spot for many Victorians. Among those who have signed the register in British Columbia House recently are Mr. and Mrs. A. Collier, Mrs. H. Southwell, Mrs. Gene Tierney, Miss Delera Peters and Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Ross and Visdean.

Announcement

Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Cox, 431 Sparrow Road, have announced the engagement of their only daughter, Beverley Maureen, to Mr. Kenneth W. Hall, son of Mrs. V. Moberg and Mr. W. Hall, both of Victoria. The wedding will take place on Friday, September 28, at 8:30 p.m., in St. John's Anglican Church. Rev. Colin Campbell will officiate.

Honor Bride

Mrs. J. Melville Carlow, the former Pat Wheatley, was honored at a shower given by Mrs. D. Ralph and Mrs. D. L. Carlow in the Carlow home on Maquinn Road. Corsages were presented to the honor guest, her mother, Mrs. V. L. Wheatley, and the groom's mother, Mrs. J. D. Carlow. Gifts were in a decorated clothes basket. Guests included Mrs. J. McColl Jr., Mrs. B. D. Carlow, Mrs. D. R. Carlow, Mrs. H. A. Carlow, Mrs. G. Taylor, Mrs. W. Wilson, Mrs. J. Galloway, Mrs. J. Greaves, Mrs. W. Hoskyn, Mrs. M. I. McIlroy, Mrs. G. Bellavance, Mrs. D. W. Ralph Jr., Mrs. T. Copley, Mrs. J. McColl Sr., Mrs. R. C. Darnell, Mrs. T. Carrington, Mrs. B. Vance, Mrs. J. Rainer, Mrs. C. Gillingham, Mrs. B. Copley, Mrs. M. Bozina, Mrs. S. Grenda, Mrs. L. Derman, Mrs. J. Campbell, the Misses Helen Copley, Miriam, Phyllis and Janet Caloway, Donna Campbell.

Four-month-old Bonnie Elaine Gray, pictured on the knee of her great-grandmother, Mrs. James Shearer, already shows promise of being a "Miss Canada" one day. Her mother, at left, Mrs. Brian Gray, is the former Miss Nina Holden who wore the "Miss Victoria" crown in 1961 and that of "Miss Canada" in 1962. They're seen with Mrs. Gray's mother, Mrs. Edward Holden in her home on Broadway Avenue. Mrs. Gray and daughter are visiting from White Horse, Y.T., while Mr. and Mrs. Shearer are here from Fife, Lochgelly, Scotland, for a four-week holiday.

Newlyweds to Live in Ontario

After a honeymoon trip to Penticton and Calgary, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Douglas Stewart will make their home at Barry, Ont.

Gordon United Church at Langford was decorated with yellow gladioli, pink roses and multi-toned dahlias when Rev. A. G. Atkins officiated at the marriage of Carol Anne Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. McM. Butler, 1045 Goldstream Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Stewart, 22 Kingham Place. Organist was Terry Robertson.

Entering the church on her father's arm, the bride was lovely in a floor-length gown of white tulle with a neckline, lily point sleeves and full skirt, slightly en train. French embroidery enhanced both the bodice and skirt. The four-tier illusion net veil misted to shoulder length from a bell-shaped headpiece. Her bouquet contained pink roses, lily of the valley and ivy.

The Misses Patricia and Sheelagh Butler attended their sister in cocktail-length dresses of yellow-satin over tulle and toning floral whimsies. They carried posies of deep yellow gladioli.

Robert McCulloch was best man and ushering guests were the brothers of the principals, R. Stewart and C. Butler. Len Crowe, Nanaimo, a family friend proposed the toast

DEAR ABBY . . .

Words of Wisdom!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband told me about a silly dream he had last week. He dreamed that this friend of ours came to our house with no clothes on. She just walked in naked and sat down in the parlor. I was up stairs at the time. She told my husband that I had told her to come over with no clothes on. My husband came running up stairs and said to me, "Why did you tell her to come here naked?" And that was the end of the dream.

My husband thought this was very funny. But the more I thought about it, the less funny I thought it was. Why should my husband be dreaming about another woman with no clothes on? I discussed it with a friend of mine who is known for her good sense and she said I shouldn't worry because if my husband had had any out-of-the-way thoughts about this woman he never would have told me the dream. I remain unconvinced.

DEAR UNCONVINCED: Your friend is wise. Believe her.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with Jerome for three years. I date others, but Jerome is the man I want to marry. He says he loves me, but he only proposes to me when he is out with the boys and has had a few drinks. Then he calls me up in the middle of the night and asks me to marry him. He doesn't drink at all when he's with me. How can I get him to ask me to marry him when he's sober.

WANTS JEROME.

Surprise

Bride-elect, Miss Donna Broad was honored when Miss Allison Marshall entertained at a surprise shower in the Kamloops Avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Stagg. Gifts were in a basket, decorated to represent a boat. Corsages were received by the honor guest, her mother, Mrs. Wesley Broad, Medicine Hat, Alta., and groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Francis Furbank. Also invited were Mrs. D. Bird, Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. V. McPhee, Mrs. John Vital, Mrs. Dal Schroyen, the Misses Carlene Currie and Beverly Lake. Entertainment included a piano solo by the hostess.

DEAR WANTS: You probably can't. And even if you could, he sounds like the type who'd have to get half-plastered before he could get the nerve to go through with it. Marriage must be lived in the cold, clear, sober light of reality. Promises that come out of bottles are usually the first to go down the drain. Scratch Jerome.

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were intrigued with your suggestions on how to keep a neighbor's chickens out of one's yard. My husband wants to know if you have any suggestions on how to keep your neighbors' ducks from fouling up our horses' watering trough. The ducks come over and swim in it, leaving feathers and other dirty matter behind so that the trough has to be emptied and cleaned out every day. Is there a solution to this problem?

GENESEE.

DEAR GEN: Horse sense tells me, it's duck soup!

THE FAMILY CIRCUS

This image shows a blank, aged, cream-colored page, likely an endpaper or flyleaf from an old book. The paper has a slightly textured appearance with some minor discoloration and faint horizontal lines, possibly from the scanning process or the paper's original grain. There are a few small, dark spots or stains, particularly one near the top center and another near the bottom left. The overall tone is a warm, off-white or light beige.

Premier Opens Highest Highway

SALMO (CP)—Premier Bennett Saturday opened the highest highway in Canada and the second all-season major road across B.C. to Alberta and eastern Canada.

At the same time he scored another first for B.C. and the Commonwealth by holding an open cabinet meeting during which a lake was renamed and a provincial park created.

The meeting started at Summit Lake at the peak of the Creston-Salmo link of what the premier called the Southern Trans-Canada Highway, and ended with the lake's name being changed to Bridal Lake, and a 2,800-acre site around it designated as Stag Leap Provincial Park.

Both changes were made by order-in-council passed at the meeting. About 1,000 people gathered at the summit of the new 43-mile, $14,000,000 highway dubbed the Kootenay Skyway by residents in the area, compared to 8,000 who attended the unofficial opening last October.

"I think it fitting that this should be called Bridal Lake to commemorate the linking of the East and West Kootenay," said the premier.

The new road, on which about 300 inches of snow falls during the winter, will be kept open all year round. It bypasses Nelson and eliminates a 40-minute ferry ride across Kootenay Lake.

The ferries still run hourly, but tolls were taken off when the new highway opened last winter.

TEDDY TAKES 580-MILE HIKE HOME

SANTA ROSA, Calif. (UPI)—A pet pomeranian named Teddy rested its pain-wracked feet Saturday after apparently walking 580 miles back to its mistress.

Mrs. Evelyn Cramer got the four-year-old dog back after losing it in Eugene, Ore., six months ago. The dog had jumped out of Mrs. Cramer's car at a gas station last March and disappeared.

Mrs. Cramer said that the dog returned to her home in Rohnert Park, just south of here, Sunday with his feet bloody and his toe nails worn off.

It took 90 minutes to catch the dog, who apparently recognized his home but not his owner.

TOASTING THEIR MARRIAGE and a Hawaiian honeymoon are Edie Adams, 35, and music publisher Marty Mills, 37, married Sunday. They will make their home at Beverly Hills. (AP Wirephoto.)

SYMPHONY IN GARDENS

Soloists, Weather In Perfect Harmony

By AUDREY ST. D. JOHNSON

The shilly-shally weather achieved something close to perfection Sunday afternoon: the Butchart Gardens, in the full tide of summer, were magnificent, and the music was enchanting.

This was the last Victoria Symphony concert in the gardens for 1964 and it drew a keenly responsive audience that was about average in size for this summer's series.

Despite the hot sun pouring down on the stage causing tuning difficulties, slippery fingers and dizziness, the performance in general was satisfactory and in particular instances, excellent.

Under Otto-Werner Mueller the romantic charm of Schubert's Rosamunde excerpts was developed with grace and an unaffected clarity.

The Handel Concerto Grosso, a crisply animated, well-disciplined performance, was highlighted by an exceptional blending of three brilliant soloists.

Leaders of three sections of the strings, Arthur Poisson, guest violinist Raymond Desaint and Hans Siegrist, they left one hungry for more of this quality and kind of rich ensemble work.

MELLOW TONE

Two numbers on the program featured first cellist Siegrist and provided one with the best opportunity yet to assess this important new member of the string body.

In both instances—the lovely Gavotte by David Popper and the enchanting, lively lyrical Sammartini Cello Sonata—Mr. Siegrist made one keenly aware that he is a fine artist who commands a mellow and beautiful tone, a facile bow and an eloquent fluency in the left-hand.

Mr. Mueller had provided a delicate but vivid arrangement for strings and oboe from the original harpsichord second and the whole ensemble under his baton, was played both lyrically and with brio.

Schubert's Marche Militaire in D and Strauss's Roses From The South, full-bodied, rhythmic and tuneful choices were popular favorites on the program.

Beaten Tot Rescued

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—A nine-year-old girl was rescued from a fog-shrouded sandbar in the St. Joseph River before dawn Sunday where she had been tossed bound and gagged from a bridge by an abductor, described as a former convict. She told of a terrifying night in which her abductor had raped her twice and forced her to lie in the trunk of his car for 12 hours.

HE'D QUIT BUT:

Buster's Public Won't Let Loose

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—"I could retire mighty easy," says comedian Buster Keaton. But his public—or maybe it's Keaton—won't let him.

Buster bought a retirement home in the San Fernando Valley with the proceeds from his film biography, but he sees less of it than he'd like. The reason: The revival of the Keaton art continues to flourish.

His silent features, with nothing added but a musical score, have been drawing crowds in Europe. Buster owns 10 of the old comedies plus numerous shorts and plans to release them abroad and in this country.

He's busy with new films, too. He just returned from New York where he starred in an avant garde movie for Samuel Beckett (Waiting for Godot).

"I never did find out what it was all about," said the comedian. "Beckett was always on the set and once I asked him, 'How do you get all these crazy ideas? Is it because you had Welsh rarebit the night before?' He just smiled and walked away."

Now-old frozen face has stuck a feather in his pork-pie hat and is playing Chief Rotten Eagle in Pajama Party. It's his first lengthy role in films for many years.

Another recent assignment: Working up comedy routines for the Ice Follies. "I tried to convince the boys to be comedians first and skaters second, but I failed," Buster sighed.

And he has made a lucrative sideline of television commercials. While in New York he appeared in a Keystone Cops sequence for Ford trucks and he has huckstered for headache remedies and other products.

"Those commercials are jimmies," he commented. "I got paid twice for the Ford job, once for each time it will be shown. Some of the others pay each time they appear, and that adds up nicely."

STAY FOR CNE

His next assignment sounds like a dream. He will star in a 16-minute short for Canadian National Railways to extol the joys of railway travel through Canada. The filming will take four weeks, during which he will tour the scenic wonders in his own railroad car.

"And I insisted on putting it on my contract that I would be served wild duck twice a week," said Buster, almost smiling at the thought. At 67 Buster shows evidence of good eating, but he has lost little of his agility. His nickname came from his being tossed about the stage in his family's vaudeville act.

PNEUMONIA has placed Mrs. Olive Diefenbaker on the sick list. John Diefenbaker said his wife has been ill at home at Ottawa for 10 days and would be confined to bed for another week at least.

Final Week For Park Film Shows

Africa, Australia and the U.S. will be represented during the final week of Victoria's International Film Festival, starting tonight.

The third international festival has attracted more than 20,000 people during the first six weeks, which already assures a record attendance.

Wednesday night awards will be presented between 8 and 8:30 preceding the final show, by Rear Admiral Landymore, Ian McKinney, British information officer and Mrs. A. B. Thompson, chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board.

Master of ceremonies will be Seymour Park, director of public information for the provincial government forest service. Tonight, films from Africa will include Gambia Greets the Queen, Africa Awakening, The First 50 Years, Unseen Harvest and Usutu.

Tuesday there will be four films from Australia, Production Unlimited, Under the Nullabor, Music in the Making and The Karri Forest.

On the program for the final night are four films from the U.S., The Yanks are Coming, The Farmer and I, Whaler Out of New Bedford and Grand Central Market. Show time is 8 p.m. in the Cameron Bandshell at Beacon Hill Park.

PRIEST TRANSFERED

Bishop's Note Averts Suit

WHITE RIVER, Ont. (CP)—Most Rev. Alexander Carter, bishop of the Sault Ste. Marie Roman Catholic diocese, has sent a letter to Naldo Bracci, chairman of the improvement district of White River, apologizing for the actions of a priest who had accused Mr. Bracci of malfeasance and corrupt conduct while in public office.

Mr. Bracci and his family were also refused church sacraments by Rev. John Kaptein when Mr. Bracci declined to pay separate school taxes. The Bracci family have been given the sacraments since Father Kaptein was transferred last week from St. Basil's Church here to Coniston, near Sudbury.

Bishop Carter congratulated Mr. Bracci for being exonerated by a judicial inquiry into charges of municipal corruption. However, in his letter, he said he did not want the message to be interpreted as a condemnation of Father Kaptein.

The bishop said: "I cannot doubt his sincerity. I can only believe that he has been ill-advised and misinformed."

Mr. Bracci said he was deeply moved by the letter and that he now believed Father Kaptein and Rev. Michael Dunnill, an Anglican priest who has since moved to Cobalt, Ont., were misled and became the victims of a conspiracy by others to discredit him.

DEMAND INQUIRY

Father Kaptein and Mr. Dunnill were involved in circulating a petition last August demanding an inquiry into the affairs and administration of the municipality dating back to 1960. It also asked whether Mr. Bracci had used his office to better his own financial position.

At a hearing in February, Father Kaptein testified that White River was a "one-horse town" ruled with an iron fist by Mr. Bracci. But, when the formal inquiry opened in May, Fa-

NUDE SWIMMERS QUIT CROSS-CHANNEL JAUNT

DOVER, Eng. (CP)—Choppy seas and sea-sickness forced a team of 10 women to abandon a relay-swim across the English channel Saturday. The women—swimming in the nude—had covered 15 miles of the 21-mile stretch of water and had been swimming for seven hours and 21 minutes.

Choral Society Plans Messiah in December

The Victoria Choral Society, with Rodney Webster as conductor, will resume weekly practices and voice tests Sept. 8 in Christ Church Memorial Hall.

Among Mr. Webster's plans for the 1964-65 season are two performances of Handel's Messiah in December, and the oratorio Samson in the spring.

Mr. Webster is one of eight musicians participating in the conducting course being given by Otto-Werner Mueller, conductor of the Victoria Symphony.

Mr. Webster has also been leading the Varsity Singers at the night shows in Butchart Gardens.

MP Remanded On Charge Of Assault

HULL, Que. (CP)—Louis-Joseph Pigeon, 42, member of Parliament for Joliette-L'Assomption-Montréal, was remanded in court today until Aug. 26 when a date will be set for preliminary hearing on a charge of indecently assaulting a male.

Defence counsel Lionel Mouton elected trial by judge and jury when the Conservative MP appeared before Judge Avila Labele.

Mr. Pigeon is charged with indecently assaulting 18-year-old Raymond Emond on the night of Aug. 3 on the main street of Hull across the Ottawa River from the capital.

Mr. Pigeon, father of one son, was accompanied in court by his wife.

WIRE BRIEFS

Phouma Asked to Quit

HONG KONG (Reuters)—Pro-Communist leaders in Laos have, in effect, called on Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma to step down as the head of the neutralist faction, the Communist New China news agency said today.

Reds Score Heavily

SAIGON (AP)—A Communist battalion smashed two South Vietnamese government posts in the Mekong River delta late Sunday, ambushed a relief force, and inflicted a total of 126 casualties on government troops.

Fires Under Control

ELKO, Nev. (AP)—Fire-fighters appeared today to be winning a battle with four large range fires in northeastern Nevada which scorched an estimated 170,000 acres of grassland and sagebrush.

Bombers to Congo

School Integration

GREENSBURG, La. (UPI)—Three-Negro high school seniors, two boys and one girl, today became the first of their race to attend a rural Louisiana public school with whites. No incidents were reported.

ATHENS (AP)—Greece informed the North Atlantic Treaty Organization tonight it is withdrawing the "necessary army, naval and air force units from the alliance to defend Cyprus' independence and to ward off the constant Turkish threat."

(Times News Services)
LONDON—Britain today urged the Soviet Union to keep out of the Cyprus crisis.

A spokesman for the British Foreign Office said the appeal was made in response to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's pledge to aid Greek Cypriot President Makarios in the event of an invasion by Turkey.

The foreign office spokesman said Britain expected "the Soviet government to conform to the United Nations Security Council resolution on Cyprus of Aug. 9."

This resolution called on all states to refrain from any action that might worsen the situation and contribute to the broadening of hostilities.

WON'T QUIT BASES

The spokesman took exception to Khrushchev's charges that both Britain and the United States had a hand in the Cyprus flare-up, and made it clear that Britain has "no intention of abandoning its military bases on the island."

Buoyed by the pledge of Soviet support, Greek Cypriots were urging President Makarios today to go to Moscow and negotiate an arms deal with the Russians.

Greek Cypriots of every political shade jubilantly greeted the Soviet Union's offer to help if Cyprus is invaded, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev's warning to Turkey that an attack on Cyprus might "boom-erang."

The right-wing weekly Ethniki hailed the weekend development as "a great turning point" for the Greek-Cypriot cause. It even suggested that Makarios, a Greek Orthodox archbishop, bring Communists

BLOCKADE PROTESTED

JAKARTA (Reuters)—Turkey has protested to the United Nations about the economic blockade of Turkish Cypriots by Greek Cypriots, the foreign minister announced today.

Foreign ministry spokesman Ismail Sayal told a press conference Turkey asked the UN to act to lift the blockade, which he said applied even to cigarettes.

He said the Turkish Cypriots had enough food only for a week or 10 days and he forecast "a great tragedy" after a week due to hunger.

Into his cabinet to show his gratitude. Other editorialists called upon Makarios to fly immediately to Moscow.

There has been no official response to the Soviets. One report said Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou would leave for Moscow Friday to begin talks on military aid.

The United Nations peace effort suffered an unexpected setback when Finnish mediator Sakari S. Tuomioja suffered a stroke in Geneva Sunday a few hours before his departure for another round of talks in Athens, Ankara and Nicosia.

The 52-year-old diplomat's condition deteriorated during the night, and doctors performed emergency surgery for a blood clot on the brain early today.

HUSKY THIEVES LIFT TWO TONS

WARREN, Ohio (UPI)—Police said today burglars took about two tons of coins valued at $100,000, or possibly more, from a collection during the weekend.

Police Sgt. Frank Luscombe said the burglars took 16,000 silver dollars and some valuable rare coins.

The burglary was discovered Sunday by Harold Berk, owner of the Berk Exterminating Co., who has operated the business as a sideline for 10 years.

$20 Million Manitoba Tax Boost

Gasoline, Liquor Tobacco Jump

WINNIPEG (CP)—Premier Duff Roblin today rejected a general retail sales tax for Manitoba but announced a series of new taxes and tax changes worth an estimated $20,000,000 in a full year, coupled with a system of partial rebates to property owners on school tax bills.

A new tax will be imposed on land transfers; surtaxes on fuels, electricity and telephone services; and there will be increases in existing taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel, liquor, tobacco, mining royalties and licenses.

They will be put into effect "as soon as may prove possible," Mr. Roblin told the opening sitting of a special summer legislature session, except for some licence fee changes which will take effect next year.

Mr. Roblin, also provincial treasurer, said the levies will pay for additional aid to municipalities starting next year.

The school tax rebate will be half the tax bill with a maximum rebate of $50.

DOUBLE TOBACCO TAX

Some of the tax changes: Gasoline up three cents to 17 cents; Diesel fuel up three cents to 20 cents;

Tobacco doubled to two-fifths of a cent per cigarette, increasing the retail price for a package of 25 to 55 cents from 50, with comparable increases in cigars and pipe tobacco;

Two-year driver's licences to $5 from $4, with increases in registration fees for most types of motor vehicles;

Liquor prices increased by 25 to 30 cents;

One per cent tax on registration of land transfers, applied on the value of the land.

Car Plunge Kills Miner Up-Island

An up-island miner was killed and another injured Saturday when a sports car plunged 30 feet from a bridge into a creek.

Dead is 17-year-old Robert Morton Humble, of Nelson, B.C., driver of the car.

His passenger, Albert Fichten, of Riondel, B.C., is being treated at St. George's Hospital, Alert Bay.

The two were heading back to Canadian Consolidated Mining and Smelting works, Benson Lake (about 20 miles west of Port McNeill) when the accident occurred. Port McNeill is on the northeast tip of V.I.

Both were employed there as miners.

RCMP say Humble apparently lost control of his car as he crossed Bear Creek Bridge.

The car plunged over a low railing to the bed of the creek. They were rushed to hospital but Humble was dead on arrival.

"Th' gov'mint can't do it, but I guess somebody'll be advertisin' a new drink—th' Causeway Special, made o' Promenade an' th' Rocks."

Cyprus must be quite a place for game. Even th' Russians want 't go there fer th' shootin'."

Senator Goldwater's diluted himself a bit, but he's still pamin' color.

Hal Banks Skips Bail; Arrest Order Issued

Fails to Appear For Hearing

MONTREAL (CP)—Hal C. Banks and three other men charged with conspiring to incite seamen to abandon ship did not appear for a hearing in the case today and bench warrants were issued for their arrest.

Ten others involved in the same charge did turn up and their preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 14. Banks, deposed president of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.), has been sought for a month by a court bailiff armed with a civil arrest warrant from another case.

The bailiff was on hand with the warrant at the courthouse entrance today, together with a scattered crowd of onlookers.

The warrant would have him serve 30 days in jail on a contempt charge.

FREE ON BAIL

Banks, 56, was free on $1,000 bail in the conspiracy case which resulted from a march on Ottawa staged by the SIU of Canada last year to protest the imposition of a federal trusteeship on the five marine unions operating in the Great Lakes.

Absent besides Banks when Judge Emile Trottier called the roll of those charged in the case were Rene Turcotte and Henning Jacobson of Montreal and Thomas Piercey of Toronto. Joseph Cohen, Banks' lawyer, told reporters outside the courtroom he has "no idea" of the whereabouts of the former union chief.

A court official said today "no commitment has been made" about possible extradition attempt if the deposed unionist is in fact in the U.S.

"That is a very involved procedure and we have nothing to do about initiating it," the official said.

The men who came forward when their names were called in the half-empty courtroom included Leonard McLaughlin of Montreal, executive vice-president of the SIU of Canada.

The contempt charge on which the arrest warrant was issued was brought after SIU members continued to picket a ship at Trois-Rivieres, Que., in 1962 despite an injunction against the demonstration.

LOST APPEAL

Banks, now entangled in a variety of court actions, appealed the conviction in the civil case all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada but failed in his attempt to reverse it. The action was initiated by the Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto, owner of the ship.

Banks is free on other bail of $25,000 pending his appeal of a five-year prison sentence imposed after he was convicted of conspiracy to assault a rival officer in the SIU of Canada, Capt. Henry Walsh.

He also awaits trial on a charge of conspiracy to assault Richard Greaves with intent to cause bodily harm.

Greaves, an official of the National Association of Marine Engineers (CLC), was assaulted in his Vancouver office in January, 1960.

WANT ACTION

Doctors Plan To Consult On Medicare

By AB KENT

Thirteen doctors have called for a special meeting of Victoria Medical Society Tuesday to discuss "lack of dynamic action" on medicare.

The request comes shortly after a group of Victoria doctors broke tradition to discuss their views on medical care in a two-part Times series.

They felt that in view of projected medicare plans in B.C. and the rest of Canada, it is time the doctors spoke out to state their position clearly to the public.

Tuesday's meeting was called by the society executive at the request of 13 doctors. They asked for it "in order to discuss the lack of dynamic action by the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association on this vital issue of medicare."

Victoria Medical Society president Dr. Lumir L. Ptak confirmed that a meeting would be held, but preferred not to discuss it beforehand. "It will be primarily a discussion meeting to decide whether medical men should be doing more than they are," he said.

The local society has a reputation for being an active group within the B.C. Medical Association, often influencing its policy-making decisions.

MONTREAL (CP)—Three Cubans are in Canadian citizenship and immigration department custody here after leaving the Cuban ship Camaguey, immigration officials said today.

BARBED BARRICADE TO PROTECT BEATLES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Barricades of barbed wire will greet Beatle fans who try to storm the Hotel Georgia Saturday for a glimpse of their mop-haired idols.

Peter Hudson of the hotel said today the barricades will supplement a force of policemen guarding every entrance.

The singers and their party, numbering about 40, will occupy the entire 12th floor of the 350-room hotel.

Mr. Hudson said no one under the age of 21 will be admitted to the hotel unless accompanied by his parents. About 200 requests from teenagers for rooms in the hotel during the weekend have been turned down.

The Beatles will perform at the opening of the two-week-long Pacific National Exhibition Saturday night.

Three Universities Ask $28 Million in One Drive

The Three Universities Capital Fund co-chairmen outlined

28 construction projects needed in the next five years at the University of Victoria, University of B.C. and Simon Fraser University.

All told, the program will cost $28,700,000 with the provincial government guaranteeing $40,700,000 of the amount.

It will double present campus accommodation for 16,885 to provide facilities for a minimum of 33,500 university students by 1970.

Announcement of the campaign opening was made in Vancouver this morning by co-chairmen Allan M. McGavin, president of McGavin Toastmaster Ltd., and Cyrus H. McLean, chairman of B.C. Telephone Company.

CAREFUL PLANNING
"These essential university projects are carefully planned to provide wide diversity in university teaching opportunities without wasteful over-lap."

PUFFING his last cigarette (??) reporter Norman Cribbens gets lecture from Dr. L. H. Loneragan on perils of smoking.

Five-Day Cure for Smoking: Eat Right, Walk Hard and Pray

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

At the Empress Hotel Sunday night I gave up cigarette smoking for the second time.

The first time was in this same hotel nearly five years ago—on Oct. 15, 1959. It happened to be my birthday and I was celebrating it by reporting a medical convention.

Most of the doctors were smoking like furnaces, but they convinced me, by logic and lantern-slide, that the cigarette is a deadly weed threatening cancer and various heart disorders.

But a few months ago I weakened. Somebody gave me a box of 50 cigs and the mischief was done.

The habit was growing until Sunday around 7:30 p.m. when I attended a meeting in the Empress which had been advertised in our paper as: "Your Opportunity to Quit Smoking in Five Days."

We watched a ghastly color film showing an operation for lung cancer and were told that the overall death rate of cigarette smokers is 58 per cent higher than that of non-smokers.

Our authority for this was Dr. L. H. Loneragan, professor of the department of pharmacology at Loma Linda University, California, who is conducting a series of free quit-smoking clinics sponsored by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church.

No Drugs

By the end of the evening, 45 men and women—some of them quite young—had volunteered for the five-day cure.

I compromised by giving up cigarettes on the spot, cleaning out my pipe and resolving to follow part of the cure.

"There is no charge and we use no drugs," Dr. Lo-neragan said. "Our cure is a combination of diet, exercise, practical psychology and prayer. But, please understand, we are not asking you to join our church or any church."

From his experience of clinics in other cities, he has found that after the five-day program, 60 to 80 per cent of the participants were cured.

How It Works

But between 40 and 50 per cent slipped back to smoking after a few months.

The volunteers were divided into pairs, who will phone each other regularly during the day and exchange encouragement.

Briefly this is how the cure works:

First night—go for a short walk, practise deep breathing, take a warm (not hot) shower or bath and a warm, non-stimulating drink if needed. Retire half an hour earlier than usual and before going to sleep, repeat the words: "Tonight I have chosen to stop smoking."

Next morning—rise half an hour earlier than usual. Take a warm shower or bath and drink one or two glasses of warm water. Eat fresh fruit with fruit juices for breakfast, or if more solid food is needed, one or two boiled eggs without pepper, fresh or stewed fruit and whole wheat toast. Take a five-minute walk with deep rhythmic breathing.

At work—take sugarless or medicated gum when tempted to smoke and repeat the words: "I have chosen not to smoke." and "Give me strength."

Avoid Them

At lunch—avoid smoking companions, eat only fruit if you can but if necessary, a bowl of mildly-seasoned soup with a sandwich, avoiding friend or spiced meat.

After lunch—take a 10-minute walk, as close to the sea as possible, and breathe deeply. Keep repeating: "It's tough but I'm breaking the smoke habit." Contact your partner and ask how he or she is progressing. Give encouragement. Drink water or fruit juice at two-hour intervals throughout the afternoon.

After work—take a brisk walk, repeating the words: "I choose not to smoke."

At home—stay away from your favorite easy chair where you have smoked so often, and avoid alcohol, which (says Dr. Loneragan) stimulates the craving for tobacco.

At dinner—eat more fruit, or if necessary, a light-seasoned soup with salad of cottage cheese or fresh garden vegetables, wheat bread or toast milk or fruit juice.

No Easy Chair

After dinner—get away from the table, engage in a hobby or good conversation. Stay away from the easy chair and take another brisk walk, with deep breathing.

At 7:30 p.m. return to Dr. Loneragan's clinic at the Empress Hotel for group therapy. This includes an exchange of experiences, with helpful suggestions; a question period; a talk by Dr. Loneragan and the showing of another film on the perils of smoking.

"Many actually enjoy the five-day program when they get used to it," Dr. Loneragan said. "It is preferable to start at the beginning, but we will welcome anyone who cares to join us tonight or any night before Thursday."

Non-registered Saanich residents have until Sept. 30 at 5 p.m. to get their names on the 1964 municipal voter's list.

They may file declarations or confirmations with clerk Gordon Hayward at the municipal hall, West Saanich Road at Royal Oak.

These persons would be non-property owners, or tenants. Property owners as of Sept. 30 would be carried onto the election rolls.

Declaration forms may be obtained from offices at 625 Yates, 817A Fort, 706 Fort or the municipal hall.

Former superintendent of the B.C. public library commission C. K. Morrison and Ranjit Singh Azad and Julian Reid will speak on Why I Am a World Federalist, tonight at 8, at 1350 Dallas Road.

The meeting is sponsored by the Victoria branch of the World Federalist of Canada.

ESQUIMALT SQUADRON SAN FRANCISCO-BOUND

Rescue Fleet Speeds Survivors to Port

By RON SUDLOW

Ships of the Esquimalt-based Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron today are steaming to San Francisco carrying all 12 survivors of a deep-sea tug which burned and sank in the mid-Pacific early Saturday.

They are expected to arrive there Tuesday afternoon and leave for Victoria in the evening.

Joseph Cunningham, the engineer aboard the tug Sea Wolf when her fuel caught fire, is reported in only fair condition aboard HMCS Jonquiere after suffering second-degree burns to 30 per cent of his body.

He was treated for burns to his arms, neck, shoulders, back, ankles and feet by the squadron's senior medical officer Surgeon-Lieut. J. C. Bruyere.

AGGRAVATED

His injuries were aggravated by immersion in salt water.

"We can assume the other crew members are in reasonably good shape apart from exposure as no mention has been made of any other injuries," a navy spokesman said.

Because of the urgency of their present mission, the Canadian ocean escorts elected to pass up another emergency call late Sunday.

The St. Frederick Lykes, en route to San Francisco, reported it had "an extremely sick crew member aboard."

However, the call would have taken the OEs 700 miles off their course and the Frederick Lykes was advised to rendezvous with the liner Arcadia, also in the vicinity.

The Sea Wolf, towing a barge loaded with lumber from Portland, Ore., was reported ablaze to the navy about 12:30 a.m. Saturday.

Coast Guard and U.S. Air Force C-130 Hercules planes

from Barbers Point, Hawaii, and San Francisco pinpointed its location 950 miles northwest of Hawaii.

Life rafts were dropped to the seamen and secured to the drifting barge before the tug sank at 4:30 a.m.

The Canadian ships were diverted 160 miles off their intended course and reached the stranded seamen seven hours after they were forced to abandon ship.

Contrary to early reports, HMCS Grilse, the navy's west coast submarine, was not the first to arrive on the scene.

It was beaten by minutes by the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Ponchartrain which had been on weather station duties in the Pacific.

Survivors are:

HOME ON TIME FRIDAY

Units of the Fourth Canadian Escort Squadron will return to Victoria on time despite the role they played in Saturday's dramatic mid-Pacific rescue of 12 seamen.

The ships will enter Esquimalt Harbor at 8:30 a.m. Friday and the submarine HMCS Grilse will come alongside at 9 a.m. Dependents of returning sailors will be permitted to enter HMC Dockyard to welcome them at 11 a.m. The ships are completing a month long cadet training cruise which took them to California and Hawaiian waters.

Hydro Head 'Bulldozing' Says Mayor

Mayor R. B. Wilson today angrily lashed back at B.C. Hydro chairman Dr. Gordon Shrum.

He said a weekend statement by the power head "is symbolic of Dr. Shrum's bulldozing tactics."

The mayor was referring to a claim by Dr. Shrum that the municipalities' decision to obtain a full-scale survey of transit problems was not needed. He also said it was merely a delaying tactic intended to drag the bus fare controversy beyond the civic elections.

NONSENSE

"That contention is utter nonsense," scoffed Mayor Wilson. "B.C. Hydro has used indecent haste and pressure in an effort to boost the rates."

"The question of the deficit and fares is a subject that has been with us for many years but they are trying to have the whole thing pushed through the Public Utilities Commission as quickly as possible."

He said the municipalities want to know what will happen if all the B.C. Hydro pushing is successful.

Tunnel Plan At Causeway

By JOHN MIKA

Mayor R. B. Wilson today hailed a "major breakthrough" that promises to give Victoria its Causeway promenade and Inner Harbor improvements while providing a novel entrance to the planned provincial museum-archives building.

He was referring to studies aimed at using the excavated rock from the museum site to build the long-sought lower promenade along the Causeway.

"Provincial Works Minister W. N. Chant said the idea seemed entirely practical and that a novel touch might be added."

A tunnel might be cut under Belleville and Douglas Streets to connect with the promenade and provide an extra entrance to the museum for visitors who also wished to take a walk around the harbor basin.

Mayor Wilson said the federal government already has indicated it will dredge the Inner Harbor if the promenade is built and he said the next step will be to initiate technical discussions between the city and federal engineering staffs.

NEXT YEAR

Mr. Chant said excavation for the museum site—covering all of the present civil service parking area at Belleville and Douglas and some property beyond it—"probably will be started this time next year."

He said considerable amount of rock will have to be removed and this could be used for building the lower promenade beneath the sidewalk level of the Causeway "provided the city and the federal governments can arrange the details."

He said that an inter-departmental committee programming construction of the museum-archives also is studying the possibility of providing a tunnel from the promenade to the below-ground level of the museum.

FEDERAL AID

"It sounds like a good idea but we have to make sure of the cost factor first," he said.

Mayor Wilson, who has made personal trips to Ottawa to seek more help from the federal government for the project, said he was delighted by the turn of events suggested by Mr. Chant.

"This is great, really great, news," he said. "It's a major breakthrough."

"It looks as though what previously appeared to be a roadblock of high costs will be removed now."

"This opens the possibility of achieving a major improvement for our Inner Harbor economically and much sooner than we had thought possible."

ASSIDUOUSLY

Mr. Chant said the inter-departmental programming committee "has been working assiduously for the better part of a year" in planning the museum project.

He said besides the civil service parking area, the museum site will include Elliott Street—which will be closed—and some more property beyond it.

"The grounds will be carefully planned to complement those of the Parliament Buildings," Mr. Chant said.

CONCLUDING the Young Soldiers' Training Plan summer camp at Albert Head, Maj.-Gen. J. M. Rockingham, general officer commanding Western Command, Edmonton, will inspect 210 young soldiers on parade square at Canadian Services College, Royal Roads, Tuesday, at 10:45 a.m. Relatives and friends will be on hand for this final event of summer training.

SUDBURY ON WAY TO DISABLED SHIP

Sudbury II, Island Tug and Barge's deep-sea tug and veteran of many towing and rescue operations, today is steaming westward into the Pacific to take in tow a disabled Greek freighter.

The Atlantic Sun is wallowing 2,200 miles from Victoria at the junction of the 49th parallel and the International Dateline.

She lost her propeller Thursday morning but her owners took until Saturday to decide on ITB after hearing other towing prices.

The 15,000-ton freighter was bound for the Pacific Coast.

She was expected to be relieved today by another sister ship Atlantic Governor.

It is estimated the 4,400-mile round-trip tow will take Capt. Harley Blagborne and Sudbury II about three weeks to complete.

The marathon tow will end at either Seattle, Portland or Vancouver, an ITB spokesman said today.

The 15,000-ton freighter was bound for the Pacific Coast.

City police have been asked to trace an Englishman who emigrated to Canada 42 years ago.

He is R. C. McCartie who is known to have lived on Oak Bay Avenue in 1957. Mr. McCartie's relatives in England are trying to contact him.

He at one time owned a city cafe and is known to have operated a farm and been in the theatre business as well as the catering trade.

An impaired driver arrested after he crashed into a telephone pole at Pembroke and Fernwood early Sunday was fined $300 when he pleaded guilty in city court this morning.

Nels A. Rosenlund, 1347 Gladstone, also lost his licence. Evidence showed that after the initial collision his car went through a fence and ended up on a lawn.

Imperial Oil Ltd. plans to build a new service station next year at Humber Green on the Hillside-Douglas corner once occupied by the Monterey Restaurant.

A company spokesman in Vancouver confirmed at the weekend that the property had been purchased by the firm.

He added that an existing station across the intersection, at Government and Gorge, will be closed down when the new one was constructed.

Purchase price was not disclosed. Building design has not been decided, the spokesman said.

A 20-year-old youth was fined $15 this morning for causing a disturbance by being drunk on Harrison Street Sunday.

Wayne Orrick, 1411 Harrison, was picked up by police on the front steps of the house surrounded by empty bottles.

A police officer said there have been numerous complaints recently about activities on this stretch of Harrison Street. He said police attended there several times on Sunday as a result of complaints from nearby residents.

Non-registered Saanich residents have until Sept. 30 at 5 p.m. to get their names on the 1964 municipal voter's list.

Mungo Memorial Plea Made to Island Chiefs

Mrs. Helen Hunt, adopted daughter of Chief Mungo Martin, left Victoria today for Alert Bay to spearhead a campaign in that area for the Mungo Martin Memorial Fund.

"The chief was so successful in hanging on to so many Indian customs and traditions that it would be marvelous if all Indians would contribute to the fund," said Mrs. Hunt.

While visiting in Alert Bay with her 13 children, Mrs. Hunt plans to approach all the chiefs and store owners in the area to ask them to start a fund for the memorial.

The fund, to raise $5,500 for a copper memorial plaque to honor the great Indian carver, is being supported by the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society and a group of interested citizens.

Mrs. Hunt left with a special collection box and will return to Victoria in three weeks with the contributions from Alert Bay.

Donations are deductible from income tax and may be sent to the Mungo Martin Memorial Fund, care of the Times or the Colonist.

A $1 donation today from Lisa, Nora and Tim and $5 from E. W. Hall, boosted the fund to $708.

THAT'S ALL IT TAKES FOR CAR TEST

Ten Minutes Can Save Life

By JIM BIGSBY

Mechanic Ron Mooney said behind the wheel of my 11-year-old car and moved it up to the first stage of the motor vehicle testing station.

Along with 20 other Victoria drivers I had come early to the Victoria Curling Rink parking lot to see if my car was as safe as I thought it was.

And like most owners of cars over three years old I discovered that there can be a lot of little things wrong which just don't show up during driving.

"Left headlight's low," said mechanic Don Chaplin.

Ron checked the rear view mirror, the driver's window, the horn and windshield wiper, then moved ahead.

"Toe-in is five pounds, so your wheel alignment's OK," he said as we bumped over one device.

Then the car was jacked up and the front end given a going over.

"King-pin a little loose, steering a little loose, but it's all right," said Ron. "If you came into a shop I owned with that I'd try to sell you a new one, but we're not going to be that strict."

He accelerated, then pulled on the emergency brake.

We slowed to a stop, Ron laughing.

"It's not bad, really, although I could flunk you on that."

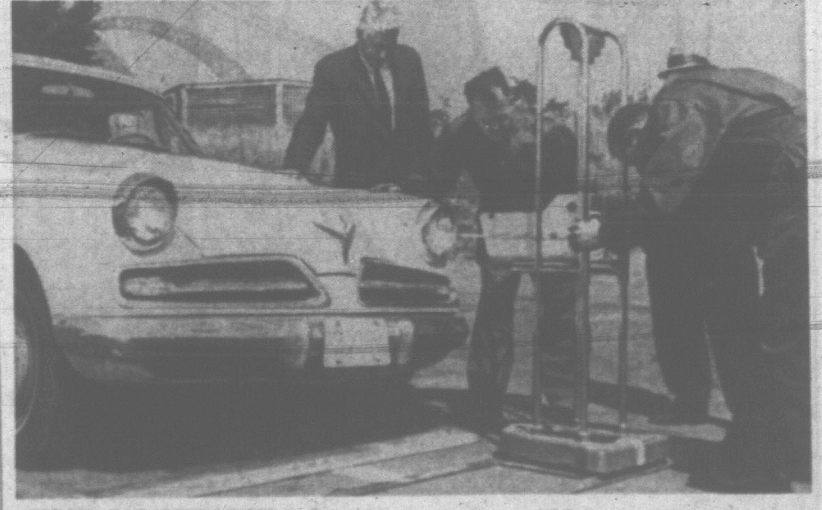

Then on to another machine and another sharp stop, this time with the regular brakes.

Dials swung, except for the one geared to my right rear brake.

"You'll get your pass sticker," said Ron as he filled out a detailed form checking faults, "but keep these weak points in mind and have them checked in a little while, just in case they get worse."

The whole thing took less than 10 minutes, cost nothing, and left me with a knowledge of my car's tested capabilities.

The testing station will be in Victoria for two weeks, this week at the Curling Rink from noon to 7 Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Tuesday and Thursday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday; next week at the Safeway lot at 2635 Quadra 1 p.m. to 8 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday.

Still the Basic Problem

FINANCE MINISTER GORDON'S report last Friday made official what has long been evident. Canada's budgetary deficit for the year ending last March 31 was $619 millions. While Mr. Gordon earlier had forecast that the shortfall would be $685 millions, and the 1962-63 deficit of the Conservative government amounted to more than $691 millions, the latest deficit is still far too large to engender much feeling of improvement.

Revenues for the fiscal year were up by some $375 millions over the previous year—an indication of the increasing productivity of the country, and also partially representative of the annual inflationary gain. But ominously, expenditures for the year ending last March 31 were $300 millions more than for the previous year. Mr. Gordon had failed to make a dent in the huge costs of running Canada although this was the chief part of his task.

It is true that governmental moves since last spring are designed to reduce the nation's costs, particularly in the case of defence. But spectacular measures will be necessary if the budget as a whole is to show improvement, and these measures are not yet in view.

We cannot lose sight of the fact that Canada has had seven consecutive annual deficits and is headed for another one this year. The cumulative effect of these deficits is to be seen in the total net debt—more than $15 billions last March and more than $1 billion over the previous year. This means that every Canadian is born these days with an $800 debt hanging over him—his share of the national total.

As with any family which spends more each year than it earns, Canada must make up the discrepancy. We borrow, usually from abroad in the form of foreign investments. Or worse still, we depreciate the currency, which exacts an unseen tax from everyone who holds Canadian money, or who has a right to pensions or other forms of deferred income.

There has been much to distract the attention of the Canadian public in recent months: the flag debate, the Quebec separatist movement, national pensions and medicare and our position in international affairs. But the basic problem of the country still remains our financial situation. That we have not yet solved it and it will be with us until Parliament and the country face the facts of our economic life. So far, neither seems prepared to do so, but that cannot indefinitely remain a matter of choice.

A Cuban Olive Branch

ACCORDING TO MR. JAMES Nelson Goodsell, Latin American correspondent of The Christian Science Monitor, Cuba is tentatively waving the olive branch of peace toward the United States.

This, Mr. Goodsell writes, is partly the outgrowth of the economic squeeze inflicted on Mr. Castro's country, and partly the result of the extended isolation threatened by the Organization of American States' action which brands Cuba an aggressor.

Beyond this, in the opinion of the correspondent, is a very deep concern by Castro and his top government men over the future of the Cuban revolution. As Mr. Goodsell reports the situation, Castro now finds himself at the crossroads in the course his country should follow. He and his fellow Cubans are busy playing down the Soviet influence on his country, are dissatisfied with the growing dependence of Cuba on Russia and the Communist bloc and want a more comfortable relationship with the western hemisphere.

But if these sentiments, as presented to the Monitor correspondent, are genuine, they are also matched by a realization that merely waving the olive branch is not in itself sufficient to invite easy and quick acceptance by the United States.

Cuba obviously recognizes the disability of her insularity in the affairs of the western hemisphere. She has friends in Mexico, Bolivia, Chile and Uruguay. But these do not approach the strength of the United States—which once provided the basis of her economic health—combined with other Latin American countries to which Mr. Castro attempted to export revolution.

Moreover, as other countries have found to their sorrow, Cuba has discovered that widespread nationalization of industries is infinitely more complex than it appeared before the take-overs were effected.

On the surface the Cuban exploration of new avenues of peaceful approach to the United States appears to be an admission that Mr. Castro's gambles, using Soviet chips, have not paid off. The operation of revolution cannot be a success if the patient dies.

But if leading Cubans, with Castro's blessings, are seeking an effective means of achieving some reconciliation with Washington, they realize that the gesture can scarcely be expected to produce immediate results. Americans do not forget the Soviet missile emplacements. They are not likely to rush into an embrace with the man who pointed a gun at their heads.

Late But Not Too Late

THE MOVE TO RESTORE AND preserve Craigflower manor as a historic site is an excellent one. It is to be hoped that the federal and provincial governments will come to a workable arrangement to achieve this, following recommendations from Mr. Arthur Laing, the federal resources minister, and provincial government representatives.

It must be recognized that this is a very late date at which to begin such a project. Official preservation of the historic old farmhouse should have been initiated years ago, when the surrounding environment still lent itself to such a program. Now there will be additional expense and a limited reclamation of what was in times past a most attractive waterside scene.

But it is well that even now the plan should be undertaken. We have too long left in private hands the preservation of an important part of our historic legacy. Craigflower manor cannot be ignored except at the cost of renouncing our origins.

'Driving Like an Idiot'

MAGISTRATE D. K. McADAM has added an acid comment to the $65 fine he imposed the other day on a Duncan man for speeding and driving contrary to the city's anti-noise bylaw. The comment might well be applied to many Victoria cases.

Evidence disclosed that the driver spun his wheels at such a rate he gouged a hole in the gravel portion of the highway, while leaving long skidmarks on the blacktop as he left a cafe early in the morning.

"You don't have to drive like an idiot," the magistrate informed the culprit, and emphasized the point by the penalty.

Here, and elsewhere too, many smart alecks have adopted a style of driving that is little more than exhibitionism, causes general annoyance and can, in some instances, create serious hazards.

This type of performance may express the ego of the driver, may convince the feeble-minded that he is smart, daring, gaily devil-may-care.

A reminder to such a person that he doesn't have to drive like an idiot, backed by a substantial fine, can be a useful deflating agent.

One German Unification

MR. JESSE OWENS, WHO gave Adolf Hitler an interesting refutation of super-race theories by winning four gold medals at the Berlin Olympic in 1936, came home recently from Berlin with a significant report for sportsmen and others.

The Germans, he says, will need watching at Tokyo. In spite of ideological differences, those of the East and the West have joined athletic forces for the Olympics, and, says the former king of the sprint world, "track and field is the No. 1 sport over there."

Mr. Owens gave his opinion within days of the Berlin wall's third anniversary—an occasion when those in the West honored the memory of Eastern Berliners who died trying to escape to freedom. It was a time of tension on the wall, the reminder of a divided city and a divided country.

In the face of this continued separation, it seems remarkable that joint action could be taken on the formation of an Olympic team. Perhaps, after all, there is a special dynamic reflected in the phrase "for the glory of sport."

The same assurances which removed Mr. Eisenhower's doubts should suffice to end the uncertainties of many Republican editors and publishers. Their support will be an important influence in the campaign.

As their political divisions lessen, even if they do not altogether disappear, the Republicans will make a powerful bid to regain their traditional business support. President Johnson will be deceiving himself if he thinks that blandishments at the White House will in the end woo many Republican executives away from their party. These men, in large numbers, will give not only their votes to Senator Goldwater, but also their money and their organizing ability.

Everyone who genuinely believes in the two-party system must welcome the new signs of Republican unity. A divided and quarrelsome party, following Senator Goldwater with sullen suspicion, would have gone down to shattering defeat. Such a result would certainly have been bad for the country and it might even have been bad for President Johnson himself. For it would have misrepresented the differences that exist on many important issues.

Needs Advice

Nor is there any reason to regret the new sources of responsible advice that will now be available to Senator Goldwater. He urgently needs that kind of advice and should not hesitate to take it so he may become a harder candidate to beat as he becomes more thoughtful and accurate and responsible; but only the most partisan Democrats will resent this development.

It is an entirely constructive thing that Republicans like General Eisenhower and Governor Scrantom will be at Senator Goldwater's side. There will be no shortage of other Republicans who will have the senator's ear.

The real test will come once the campaign starts after Labor Day. The unity meeting at Hershey did no more than issue a declaration of principles. It remains to be seen how Senator Goldwater stands up to other pressures. The moderates pre-valled at Hershey because it was so clearly in Senator Goldwater's interest to have the maximum degree of unity in his party. But the right wing still has to be heard from, and if Senator Goldwater weakly yields to its demands, the meeting at Hershey will be a futile gesture rather than a victory for responsibility. But Senator Goldwater should not be condemned until he actually wobbles and capitulates.

Racial Issue

On the racial issue he deserves little commendation. It is useless for him to say that he will not try to win votes on the strength of the "white backlash." He has already done enough for everyone to know where he stands on this issue. His silence now will not wipe out his vote against the Civil Rights Bill. Without that vote he would have had very little hope of doing well in the South or in some northern cities.

But he deserves a measure of respect for his stand on the John Birch Society. He is opposed to its leaders and its principles. But he will not condemn it because, unlike the Ku Klux Klan, it is not officially listed as a subversive organization. Nor will he repudiate the support of all its members because he does not believe in guilt by association and he cannot forget that some of its members may be decent but misguided Americans.

Senator Goldwater will not relish this tribute but in taking this position he is acting on essentially liberal principles. Perhaps that is why his position will be so unpopular.

The Ombudsman Proves His Value

By JAMES WALLACE

LESS than two years ago New Zealand appointed its first Ombudsman. Looking back over this period, Sir Guy Powles, a former High Commissioner in India, says he believes "the office has gone some distance towards achieving its purpose."

But for the existence of this "complaints or grievances" man as Sir Guy has become known, many citizens would have had no redress for justifiable complaints against administrative agencies.

New Zealand, with a population of 2,500,000 is riddled with such organizations. There are in the country nearly 65,000 public servants who come within the control of the State Service Commission, and a further 55,000 in the post office, railways, education and police departments who are government employees not associated with the commission. But they are, nevertheless, public servants.

With so many bureaucrats, the need for an Ombudsman is, perhaps, more necessary in New Zealand than in nations not so controlled by government bodies. The Ombudsman is doing an excellent job in dealing with public grievances but his duties go further than that.

Renewed Confidence

His office has given the public a renewed confidence in the public services and at the same time its very existence has made government agencies more careful in the exercise of their responsibilities.

Sir Guy is an officer of Parliament—not of the government of the day. He sees his role thus: "He must tread his own path, being careful to maintain his independence of both the executive and the judiciary so as to be able to build a tradition of strong and impartial criticism of government administration on the one hand, and of helpfulness to citizens in their dealings with the administration on the other. If this is achieved justice will be better served and efficient and humane administration will be promoted."

For the year ended March last, Sir Guy received 1,100 complaints, 550 of which were investigated. While only 107 of these were found to be justified, they have nevertheless illustrated the need for such a man in a modern society, and especially where government control is widespread.

Early ideas that the Ombudsman would be swamped by petitions and petty complaints have failed to materialize. This is, perhaps, because people who feel they have grievances against some party or agency have weighed up their case more carefully than may have been the case in the past.

Co-operation

Sir Guy, in his report, mentions the co-operation received from government departments and state agencies and organizations. In more than half the justified complaints the departments rectified matters promptly. In others they had not waited for the Ombudsman to complete his study before righting any wrongs. No case has yet occurred where the Ombudsman had to report to Parliament that a recommendation from his office had not been complied with.

The Ombudsman has certain coercive powers and it is a tribute to his manner of operation and partly to the spirit in which his intervention has been received that he has not had to resort to these powers. But he has indicated that he would not like to prophesy that recourse to them would never be necessary.

Sir Guy noted seven cases where there was trouble caused by ambiguity or carelessness in official publications and correspondence. He also investigated delays in civil defence matters. An act had been in force since 1962 and little progress had been made. He wanted to know why. After consultations with the director of civil defence, he said he understood the reason for delays in implementing the act but he felt bound to press for early action.

Hydro Investigation

The Ombudsman's activities have not been confined solely to the study of complaints arising from departmental files. He is still engaged in an investigation of "considerable scope" into the development of a major hydro-power project and its effect upon scenery preservation and the economic effect it is having on tourist development and the growth of an adjoining town. A compromise solution has, in the meantime, been worked out to assist in the orderly development of the town.

Another example of his duties concerns the rights of a school principal to rule on what course a student should follow. In this case, he examined a complaint from parents of a girl who wanted to follow an academic course, where the principal ruled that her record showed no suitability for it and insisted on a commercial course. Sir Guy found the legislation made the principal's decision final and pointed out that practically all principals were capable of resolving disputes of this kind in a reasonable and commonsense way.

These two latter examples perhaps illustrate that the Ombudsman's door is open to all and that he is ready to right injustices. The scheme costs the country £9,000 annually.

DENNIS THE MENACE

Problem of Proteges

By DENNIS BLOODWORTH
from Singapore

THE Russians provide the main economic prop for a Communist regime in North Viet Nam that has vociferously taken China's part in the increasingly embittered Sino-Soviet quarrel.

In 1960, the Soviet Union agreed to help the Vietnamese build more than half of the 80 construction projects listed in Hanoi's five-year plan, and Moscow has offered additional loans and grants worth nearly $150,000,000.

At least 28 of North Viet Nam's torpedo boats and patrol craft are Russian-built. Only four are reported to have been supplied by China.

But Moscow cannot change the stark economic facts of life in the impoverished north, where natural calamity and the bungling of Communist cadres, the resentment of the regimented peasantry and what leaders in Hanoi have called "lazy, reckless and careless work," have combined to make bad worse.

Cut Off From Food

Before Viet Nam was divided in 1954, the rice-rich agricultural south shipped about 400,000 tons of grain every year to the north. Today the north is cut off from this source of supply; its puny industries do not earn enough foreign exchange to buy much abroad, and its food production program has failed miserably.

The first rice harvest of 1964 has been good in most parts of the country. But for years the hardly perceptible increase in output has been falling behind the increase in the number of mouths to feed now estimated by Hanoi to be 17 million.

Khrushchev's co-existence policies have held little appeal for men whose eyes are focused enviously on the southern rice bowl that is also the other half of their homeland.

The United States is even more heavily committed to the championship of South Viet Nam than the Soviet Union is to the north. Washington is spending $200 million a year to shore up the wartime economy of this feeble underdeveloped agricultural state, and more still on its defences.

Unwilling Risk

The Americans want no war with the Soviet bloc, yet are bound to risk it. If they abandon Viet Nam and so betray their policy of halting Communist expansion in its present tracks, the entire structure of "free" nations in Asia looking to Washington for protection may quickly collapse.

Yet the Americans can oppose no positive ideology to the challenge of Marxism. In a sub-continent until recently ruled by colonial masters or local despots, there is no democratic tradition of organized political parties and the electorate is ignorant and gullible.

The Americans have therefore found themselves supporting dictators and generals. Their presence as "white protectors" has smacked of a second colonial era. Their assistance has been more like a mechanical aid than a therapeutic exercise, so that the sinews of freedom have withered, not developed. They do not engender democracy. They only fend off Communism.

Regenerating Work

The Hon. Eric Martin is quite right in looking to the church for leadership in handling the social problem of sexual promiscuity and V.D. These fall within the regenerating work and ministry of the Holy Spirit. Many people can testify how alcoholism, drug addiction and other pernicious habits have been completely rooted out of their lives by such ministry. The responsibility of facing these problems devolves upon the body of Christian believers, since these problems, being spiritual in origin, cannot be plumbed by the methods of medical science, regardless of how helpful such science can be.

INTERESTED.

Questions Books

Like most people, I used to think that the moral upbringing of children was the responsibility of parents.

I am a "stay-at-home" mother who has tried to teach my children honesty and decency, but after reading two books that came into my home from a high school library, I'm not so sure anymore. These books, written by Geoffrey Wagner and Milo Dor, contained the sort of filth that would lead a young person to promiscuity.

I had these books removed from the library—but can't help wondering how much more of this literature is still available in Victoria schools.

Before educators take over the sexual training of our youth, might I suggest they check in their libraries.

CONCERNED MOTHER.

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Duff Roblin today rejected a general retail sales tax for Manitoba but announced a series of new taxes and tax changes worth an estimated $20,000,000 in a full year, coupled with a system of partial rebates to property owners on school tax bills.

A new tax will be imposed on land transfers; surtaxes on fuels, electricity and telephone services; and there will be increases in existing taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel, liquor, tobacco, mining royalties and licences.

They will be put into effect "as soon as may prove possible," Mr. Roblin told the opening sitting of a special summer legislature session, except for some licence fee changes which will take effect next year.

Mr. Roblin, also provincial treasurer, said the levies will pay for additional aid to municipalities starting next year.

The school tax rebate will be half the tax bill with a maximum rebate of $50.

DOUBLE TOBACCO TAX

Some of the tax changes:
Gasoline up three cents to 17 cents;

Diesel fuel up three cents to 20 cents;

Tobacco doubled to two-fifths of a cent per cigarette, increasing the retail price for a package of 25 to 55 cents from 50, with comparable increases in cigars and pipe tobacco;

Two-year driver's licences to $5 from $4, with increases in registration fees for most types of motor vehicles;

Liquor prices increased by 25 to 30 cents;

One per cent tax on registration of land transfers, applied on the value of the land.

HUSKY THIEVES
LIFT TWO TONS

WARREN, Ohio (UPI) — Police said today burglars took about two tons of coins valued at $100,000, or possibly more, from a collection during the weekend.

Police Sgt. Frank Luscombe said the burglars took 16,000 silver dollars and some valuable rare coins.

The burglary was discovered Sunday by Harold Berk, owner of the Berk Extreming Co., who has operated the business as a sideline for 18 years.

WANT ACTION

Doctors Plan
To Consult On Medicare

By AB KENT

Thirteen doctors have called for a special meeting of Victoria Medical Society Tuesday to discuss "lack of dynamic action" on medicare.

The request comes shortly after a group of Victoria doctors broke tradition to discuss their views on medical care in a two-part Times series.

They felt that in view of projected medicare plans in B.C. and the rest of Canada, it is time the doctors spoke out to state their position clearly to the public.

Tuesday's meeting was called by the society executive at the request of 13 doctors.

They asked for it "in order to discuss the lack of dynamic action by the B.C. division of the Canadian Medical Association on this vital issue of medicare."

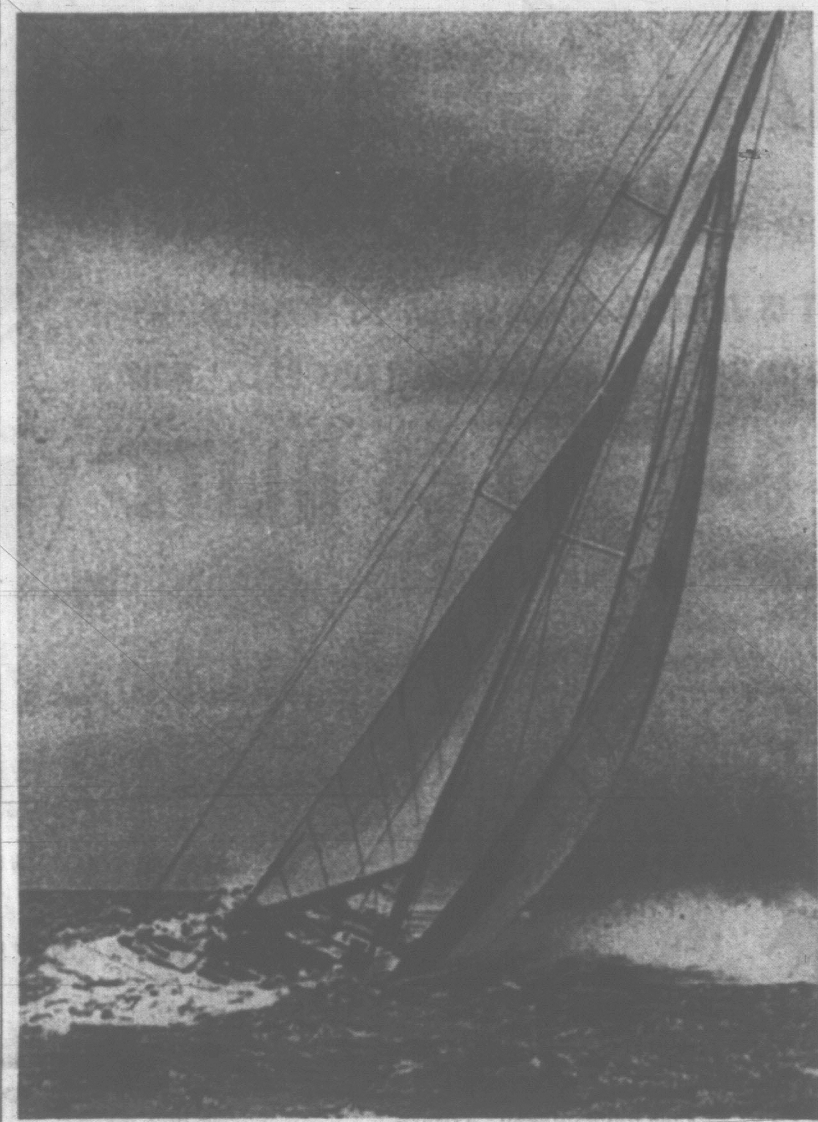

Victoria Medical Society president Dr. Lumir L. Ptak confirmed that a meeting would be held, but preferred not to discuss it beforehand.

"It will be primarily a discussion meeting to decide whether medical men should be doing more than they are," he said.

The local society has a reputation for being an active group within the B.C. Medical Association, often influencing its policy-making decisions.

'Keep Out of Cyprus' Britain Urges Soviet

ATHENS (AP) — Greece informed the North Atlantic Treaty Organization tonight it is withdrawing the "necessary army, naval and air force units" from the alliance to defend Cyprus and "ward off the constant Turkish threat."

(Times News Services)

LONDON — Britain today urged the Soviet Union to keep out of the Cyprus crisis.

A spokesman for the British Foreign Office said the appeal was made in response to Soviet Premier Khrushchev's pledge to aid Greek Cypriot President Makarios in the event of an invasion by Turkey.

The foreign office spokesman said Britain expected "the Soviet government to conform to the United Nations Security Council resolution on Cyprus of Aug. 9."

"This resolution called on all states to refrain from any action that might worsen the situation and contribute to the broadening of hostilities.

The spokesman took exception to Khrushchev's charges that both Britain and the United States had a hand in the Cyprus flare-up, and made it clear that Britain has no intention of abandoning its military bases on the island.

Buoyed by the pledge of Soviet support, Greek Cypriots were urging President Makarios today to go to Moscow and negotiate an arms deal with the Russians.

Greek Cypriots of every political shade jubilantly greeted the Soviet Union's offer to help if Cyprus is invaded, and Soviet Premier Khrushchev's warning to Turkey that an attack on Cyprus might "boom-erang."

The right-wing weekly Ethniko-hailed the weekend development as "a great turning point" for the Greek-Cypriot cause. It even suggested that Makarios, a Greek Orthodox archbishop, bring Communists into his cabinet to show his gratitude. Other editorials called upon Makarios to fly immediately to Moscow.

There has been no official response to the Soviets. One report said Foreign Minister Spyros Kyprianou would leave for Moscow Friday to begin talks on military aid.

The United Nations peace effort suffered an unexpected setback when Finnish mediator Sakari S. Tuomioja suffered a stroke in Geneva Sunday a few hours before his departure for another round of talks in Athens, Ankara and Nicosia.

The 52-year-old diplomat's condition deteriorated during the night, and doctors performed emergency surgery for a blood clot on the brain early today.

BLOCKADE PROTESTED

JAKARTA (Reuters) — Turkey has protested to the United Nations about the economic blockade of Turkish Cypriots by Greek Cypriots, the foreign minister announced today.

Foreign ministry spokesman Ismail Sayal told a press conference Turkey asked the UN to act to lift the blockade, which he said applied even to cigarettes.

He said the Turkish-Cypriots had enough food only for a week or 10 days and he forecast "a great tragedy" after a week due to hunger.

Plane Can't Fly Out Injured Man

BURNS LAKE (CP) — Bad weather over Tweedsmuir Park today grounded a plane standing by to fly a seriously injured man to Vancouver.

The man was critically injured when the car in which he was riding collided with a truck east of here early Saturday morning. Two were killed in the mishap. They were Gordon Zayha of Dawson Creek and Frank Vorel of Fort St. John.

Foul Play Suspected in Boy's Death

DRAYTON VALLEY, Alta. (CP) — Police said today they suspect foul play in the death of a 14-year-old boy whose body was found on a gravel bar in the North Saskatchewan River near this community 65 miles southwest of Edmonton.

Police said the body of Herbert Dennis Hennesey apparently was dropped into the river from a bridge and landed on the outcropping behind one of the piers.

Search Started for Kayak Traveller

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — A search started today for Erling Anderson, a printer, overdue on a kayak trip from Francois Lake to Prince George.

Anderson, 56, was scheduled to reach Prince George Saturday night on a voyage that was to have taken him down Francois Lake, Stelako River, Fraser Lake and Nechako River.

'Frustrated' Cards Fire Executives

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Two key St. Louis Cardinals executives, general manager Bing Devine and business manager Art Routzong, have resigned from the National League baseball team, The Post-Dispatch said.

The Post-Dispatch story said Devine was stepping out because Cardinal president August A. Busch Jr. had become "disappointed and frustrated" over the team's failure to win a pennant.

BARBED BARRICADE TO PROTECT BEATLES

VANCOUVER (CP) — Barricades of barbed wire will greet Beatle fans who try to storm the Hotel Georgia Saturday for a glimpse of their mop-haired idols.

Peter Hudson of the hotel said today the barricades will supplement a force of policemen guarding every entrance.

The singers and their party, numbering about 40, will occupy the entire 12th floor of the 350-room hotel.

Mr. Hudson said no one under the age of 21 will be admitted to the hotel unless accompanied by his parents. About 200 requests from teen-agers for rooms in the hotel during the weekend have been turned down.

The Beatles will perform at the opening of the two-week-long Pacific National Exhibition Saturday night.

Malaya Invaded
By Small Force

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — A small force of Indonesians has landed on the swampy west coast of Malaya, the Malaysian government announced today.

He called the landings a small scale invasion and said it would inform the United Nations Security Council.

Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak said a force of 30 to 40 Indonesians and a few Malaysians landed Sunday night in southern Johore state and that 13 were captured after a clash with police and troops. One Malaysian trooper was wounded.

Razak said the Indonesian party came about 30 miles across Malacca Strait in outboard motor boats.

Calling the landing an act of aggression, Razak said that while the UN Security Council would be informed, the government did not plan to make any immediate request for UN action.

FIRST MAINLAND ATTACK — Indonesian guerrillas have infiltrated Malaysia's Borneo states but this is the first report of any incursion by Indonesians of Malaysia's mainland.

Asked at a press conference if Malaysia planned to retaliate, Razak asserted: "We have a right to take any measures to defend ourselves."

He said a curfew had been imposed in the Pontian area of Johore state.

Three Universities Ask
$28 Million in One Drive

A $28,000,000 public subscription campaign—largest ever undertaken for university construction in Canada—officially opened today.

The Three Universities Capital Fund co-chairmen outlined 28 construction projects needed in the next five years at the University of Victoria, University of B.C. and Simon Fraser University.

All told, the program will cost $68,700,000 with the provincial government guaranteeing $40,700,000 of the amount. It will double present campus

$10,000 Fine
Also Levied

CHICAGO (AP) — Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa was sentenced today to five years in prison to be served after an eight-year term given him in Chattanooga, Tenn.

The Chicago sentence, four concurrent five-year terms, and a $10,000 fine was assessed for fraud in obtaining large loans from the union's multi-million-dollar pension fund.

Maurice Walsh, Hoffa's chief counsel, said his understanding was that the Chicago sentence would be served in addition to the Chattanooga sentence.

The lawyer said he contemplated an appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals. Pending the outcome of that procedure Hoffa will be free on $10,000 bail.

Hoffa told a reporter he expected to serve the Chattanooga sentence first, then the Chicago sentence "if I have any to serve at all."

Hoffa is appealing the eight-year Chattanooga sentence.

Hoffa sat glumly, his jaws clenched tightly while his six co-defendants appeared, one after the other, before the bench.

The sentences for the co-defendants were as follows:

Benjamin Dranow, a former Minneapolis businessman now serving a term in federal prison for tax evasion and fraud, five years.

Samuel Hyman, a Miami Beach real estate operator, one year and one day and a $5,000 fine.

Calvin Kovens, a Miami

Out for Banks

MONTREAL (CP) — Hal C. Banks and three other men charged with conspiring to incite seamen to abandon ship did not appear for a hearing in the case today and bench warrants were issued for their arrest.

Ten others involved in the same charge did turn up and their preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 14. Banks, deposed president of the Seafarers International Union of Canada (Ind.), has been sought for a month by a court bailiff armed with a civil arrest warrant from another case.

The bailiff was on hand with the warrant at the courthouse entrance today, together with a scattered crowd of onlookers.

The warrant would have him serve 30 days in jail on a contempt charge.

FREE ON BAIL

Banks, 56, was free on $1,000 bail in the conspiracy case which resulted from a march on Ottawa last year to protest the imposition of a federal trusteeship on the five marine unions operating in the Great Lakes.

Absent besides Banks when Judge Emile Trottier called the roll of those charged in the case were Rene Turcotte and Henning Jacobson of Montreal and Thomas Piercey of Toronto.

Joseph Cohen, Banks' lawyer, told reporters outside the courtroom he has "no idea" of the whereabouts of the former union chief.

A court official said today "no commitment has been made" about possible extradition attempt if the deposed unionist is in fact in the U.S.

BANKS

"That is a very involved procedure and we have nothing to do about initiating it," the official said.

The men who came forward when their names were called in the half-empty courtroom included Leonard McLaughlin of Montreal, executive vice-president of the SIU of Canada.

LOST APPEAL

Banks, now entangled in a variety of court actions, appealed the conviction in the civil case all the way to the Supreme Court of Canada but failed in his attempt to reverse it. The action was initiated by the Upper Lakes Shipping Limited of Toronto, owner of the ship.

Banks is free on other bail of $25,000 pending his appeal of a five-year prison sentence imposed after he was convicted of conspiracy to assault a rival officer in the SIU of Canada, Capt. Henry Walsh.

He also awaits trial on a charge of conspiracy to assault Richard Greaves with intent to cause bodily harm.

Greaves, an official of the National Association of Marine Engineers (N.A.M.E.), was assaulted in his Vancouver office in January, 1960.
